ROOSEVELT GIVES 'GO-AHEAD' SIGNAL TO PAY-HOUR ACT

White House Announcement Says President Signed Measure Saturday Without Fanfare.

LAW TAKES EFFECT 24TH OF OCTOBER

F.D.R. Expected to Name Administrator Before Leaving on Trip West.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has signed the wage-hour bill, thereby giving the "go-ahead" signal for avast experiment in putting a "floor" under pay rates and a "ceiling" over hours.

The signing was done without fanfare Saturday, but was not announced by White House officials until today.

The act will go into operation October 24. On that date, officials said, some 200,000 persons receiving less than 25 cents an hour are to have their pay increased to 25 cents. Whether any court fight over the act will delay its operation has yet to be determined, however.

To Name Administrator.

The act provides for the appointment of a wage-hour administrator, and well-informed officials said they expected the President to fill this post before he starts on his trip to the west July 7.

The act applies to industries in interstate commerce, with some exceptions. They will be required to pay a minimum wage of 25 cents an hour during the first year after October 24.

During the second year and five subsequent years the wage rate minimum will be 30 cents, and at the end of seven years after the act goes into effect, the flat minimum will be 40.

To place a ceiling over hours the measure provides a maximum work week of 44 hours the first year, 42 hours the second year, and 40 hours thereafter.

To Set Up Committees.

The administrator is empowered to set up industry committees to investigate wage conditions in various industries and to recommend the payment of the highest minimum rates as soon as economically justified. Thus, the 40-cent minimum might be reached in some industries in much less than seven years.

Experts in the Labor Department, where the newly created wage and hour division will be established, pointed out that the administration of the act and the recommendations for payment of the highest minimum wage will all revolve on the question of "economic feasibility."

To Consider Conditions.

In determining the highest feasible minimum the industry committees, made up of representatives of the public, employers and the employees, will consider competitive conditions affected by transportation and living costs, comparable wages paid under collective agreements, and voluntarily maintained minima.

The measure also prohibits "oppressive child labor," exempts

COUNTRESS HAUGWITZ-REVENTLOW.

Babs, Count Ask Divorce In Denmark

Barbara, in London, Denies Steps Taken to Win Separation.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, June 27.—Divorce proceedings were filed in city court here today on behalf of Countess Haugwitz-Reventlow and her American heiress wife, the former Barbara Hutton.

Under Danish procedure a legal separation of about a year and a half is required before a final decree can be granted.

It was understood that the case was carried into court after a conference between attorneys representing the Count and Countess and the Danish minister of justice.

Disagreement between the handsome nobleman and his American-born wife, who recently renounced her citizenship, had been brewing for several months and was believed to have been concerned principally with money matters and their two-year-old son, Lance.

The Countess, now in London, was reported to have denied that any definite steps had been taken toward obtaining a divorce but it was known that she had been conferring with Danish attorneys over the week end and was thought to have sanctioned the action.

The suit as filed was in the

MEXICAN LEADER SAYS FASCISTS TRY TO SPLIT AMERICAS

Laborite Warns That Dictators Seek to Force U. S. to Make Concessions by Crippling Trade

CAMPAIGN IS LAID TO THREE POWERS

CIO Director Accuses Nazis of Backing Rebels in Neighbor Country.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP) Vincente Lombardo Toledano, Mexican labor leader, said tonight Fascist propagandists were attempting to injure relations between Latin America and the United States.

Lombardo Toledano, secretary general of the Mexican Workers' Confederation (CTM) spoke at the National Press Club auditorium under the sponsorship of the American League for Peace and Democracy.

"Fascism," he said, "is attempting to isolate the United States from Latin America for two reasons. First, it hopes in this way to force the United States to make concessions which will permit Fascism to carry out its program of European domination."

"Second, it seeks to bring about in the United States proper, by reason of loss of markets and the consequent derangement of its foreign trade with the countries to the south, an intensification of the economic crisis. It hopes declining trade and economic stringency will force the United States government to abandon its Democratic program of social services, which in turn will intensify a drift toward Fascism in this country."

Lombardo Toledano said Germany, Italy and Japan had launched a campaign for economic, political and cultural penetration in Latin America.

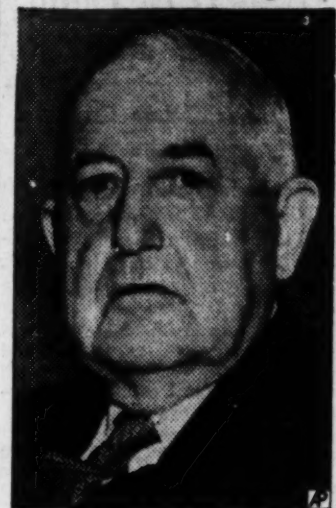

John Brophy, director of the CIO, spoke on the same program.

Brophy said the reason for his address was the close affinity between the interests of labor in Mexico and this country.

The CIO official said Fascist

BERTRAND SNELL QUITS CONGRESS

Republican Leader Retires To Devote Time to His Business Interests.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—Representative Bertrand H. Snell, Republican leader of the house and hard-hitting critic of the Roosevelt administration, announced his retirement from congress today.

He said his purpose in leaving, after 24 years in the national legislature, was to devote his time to his varied business interests in upper New York state.

"The public responsibilities which have been mine for a number of years past have been exceedingly heavy and constant and my own business accordingly has been very greatly neglected," said a statement issued at his office here. "The time comes when one's family and health must have some consideration."

Snell's service in congress goes back to the middle of the first Woodrow Wilson administration. He was elected in 1915 to fill a vacancy, and has served continuously since that time. His rise was steady. Fifteen years after his first appearance in Washington, he was one of the rulers of the house.

When Nicholas Longworth was speaker and Representative Tilson, of Connecticut, was Republican leader, Snell filled the important post of chairman of the rules committee.

NEW BONDS UNITE SWEDEN AND U. S. IN OLD FRIENDSHIP

Roosevelt and Prince Bertil Dedicate Monument Commemorating 300th Year of Colony.

GOOD-WILLENDURES CENTURY AND HALF

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, III Aboard Ship, Speaks From His Bed.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—(AP)—The United States and Sweden were tied today in new bonds of friendship.

President Roosevelt and Prince Bertil, of Sweden, dedicating a monument to America's first Swedish colonists, while a steady rain fell, pledged continuation of the Swedish-American good-will which has endured for a century and a half.

"We shall be reminded of the unbroken friendship between Sweden and America by this monument," the Prince said as he presented the shaft, raised in honor of the handful of Swedes and Finns who sailed up the Delaware in 1638.

The President welcomed the Prince and Crown Princess Louise to the site where those colonists, led by Peter Minuit, landed three centuries ago to establish the first settlement in Delaware.

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, whose place 26-year-old Prince Bertil took, sent "regrets" from the motorship Kungsholm that illness had kept him from the ceremonies.

A loudspeaker system carried the voice of the crown prince to an afternoon crowd in the center of Wilmington.

"The ideals of freedom, of peace, and goodwill to all men . . . will forever bind our two peoples together in friendship and understanding," he said from his sickbed on the ship.

Crown Princess Louise listened attentively as her husband's voice came from the loudspeaker.

"You represent a true friendship under which we have lived from the earliest times unmarred by any rift, unbroken by any misunderstanding," the President said in greeting the royal party.

The President accepted, "in behalf of the people of the United States," the monument contributed by the people of Sweden and added:

"I am confident that to generations yet unborn in Sweden and in the United States it will typify close association and continued good-will between our two nations."

Frequent applause from the crowd of 3,000, some of them standing ankle deep in mud in Fort Christina park, greeted crown-haired Prince Bertil as he

2 Powers Warn Tokyo To Keep Hands Off Isle

Allies Demonstrate New Co-operation in Joint Pledge To Act Together To Settle Any "Complications" in China; Are Aroused Over Threats to Hainan Island in South.

CHAMBERLAIN REFUSES DEMANDS TO ARM HARRIED MERCHANT SHIPS

Angry Commons Turns on Prime Minister as Insurgents Destroy Two More English Ships With Explosives and Incendiary Bombs.

In a new showing of Franco-British co-operation, London and Paris yesterday shifted attention from the continent and Spain, where two British ships were destroyed yesterday, to the Far East in a blunt warning to Japan to keep her hands off the strategic island of Hainan.

In China

Nipponese airmen bombed defenses on Hainan simultaneously with announcement in London that the two powers have warned Japan they will act in unison to handle any complications. Japan's conquest, however, was bogging down on all fronts as German advisors who built the modern Chinese army were packing to leave Generalissimo Chiang on orders of Berlin. The German ambassador is to leave Hankow today.

In Spain

Insurgent airplanes, some of them identified as of German manufacture, destroyed two ships flying the Union Jack, killing four members of the crews. Mounting anger in the British Isles over the bombings, the 58th and 59th since the war began, found Prime Minister Chamberlain turning back demands in commons that British ships be armed to fight off attackers. It is believed that fliers of Germany and Italy, powers Chamberlain seeks to conciliate, are carrying out the raids against Insurgent Generalissimo Franco's orders.

LONDON, June 27.—(AP)—With a cautious refusal to promise anything, Britain's hard-pressed Prime Minister Chamberlain turned back angry demands today that British merchant ships be armed to beat off attacking warplanes.

Both opposition and supporting members of the house of commons harried the spare, bushy-browed Chamberlain in a heated session after Spanish insurgent planes blasted two more ships flying the Union Jack.

Chamberlain promised his critics nothing and awaited the return of the British commercial agent, Sir Robert M. Hodgson, Britain's representative in insurgent Spain, who is expected to bring a conciliatory explanation of such attacks from Generalissimo Franco.

In Barcelona the Spanish government tonight published a note to Britain approving the establishment of a neutral commission to investigate air raids on unfortified Spanish cities.

It was probable that mounting British anger over repeated attacks on British shipping—today's were the 58th and 59th since the war started—might force Chamberlain to keep Sir Robert at home and

WAR FEARS GROW IN CHACO DISPUTE

Arbiters Work Frantically To Fix Boundary for Paraguay, Bolivia.

BUENOS AIRES, June 27.—(AP)—A new threat of war between Bolivia and Paraguay over the dismal Chaco wilderness grew tonight, as representatives of six neutral countries struggled to prevent a breakdown in territorial negotiations.

The neutrals are trying to fix a definite boundary to end a century-old dispute over the Chaco area, as large as continental Italy but of doubtful economic value.

Paraguay's aspirations to retain nearly all the territory gained in the three-year war from 1932 to 1935, and refusal to yield Bolivia a port on the upper Paraguay, river deadlocked the conversations.

The neutral conferees here fear war any minute if the negotiations break down completely, because both Bolivia and Paraguay have been rearming to the extent of their financial power the past three years—although they were forbidden to do so under the armistice protocol of 1935, which was underwritten by Argentina, Brazil, Chile, Peru, the United States and Uruguay.

There have been also numerous incidents along the line of separation of the armies, fixed by the armistice, and probably only the presence of foreign military observers has kept the peace.

DESPERADO SLAIN, BROTHER IS SHOT

Two Fugitives Flee Down Old Dillinger Trail After Wounding Trooper.

JOLIET, Ill., June 27.—(AP)—A mad dash down John Dillinger's old trail culminated today in the slaying of one desperado and the wounding and capture of his brother during a savage gun battle.

The fugitives—accused of shooting an Indiana state trooper, firing upon officers in three clashes, kidnaping four persons and stealing two cars in the course of a wild, 12-hour flight across five Indiana and Illinois counties—were cornered on the farm of Byron Warner near Deselm, Ill.

They were felled as the vanguard of a force of 100 patrolmen from both states closed in with a raking barrage of pistol, machine gun and rifle fire.

Sheriff John Stack, of Kankakee, Ill., said the survivor identified himself as Orelle J. Easton, 25, and his dead brother as Clarence Easton, 27, of Valley City, North Dakota.

He said Orelle told him they embarked upon a career of crime three weeks ago.

One bullet struck Orelle in the shoulder. Others creased his ears and grazed his lip.

Orelle blamed his brother for shooting State Trooper Ray Dixon near Laporte, Ind., last night.

The Eastons then abducted Dep-

GEORGE IS CHARGED WITH AIDING G. O. P. BY CAMP IN TALK

Candidate Says Senator Wanted Hoover To Reorganize Federal Courts.

Lawrence S. Camp charged last night that Senator George, who voted against President Roosevelt's plan to reorganize the government, "wanted Hoover to have this authority."

The federal prosecutor, one of George's three foes in the September primary, asserted that when Herbert Hoover was President, the Georgia senator introduced a resolution "authorizing the Republican President to consolidate the various agencies of the executive departments of the government."

"But in 1938," Camp continued, "when the people and congress wanted to give this authority to a Democratic President, Franklin D. Roosevelt—the Republicans and my opponent, the senator, did not want Roosevelt to have this authority—so the senator, as has been his custom on important legislation, lined up with the Republicans to prevent a Democratic President from having the authority they wanted Hoover to have."

Camp then asked his radio hearers: "What do you think of that? What difference did it make to my opponent, the senator, that he had to be on both sides of the same issue?"

WORKERS URGED TO BACK LIBERALS

Williams' Speech Stirs Critical Interest in Capitol Hill.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—A WPA leader's appeal to organized relief recipients to "get out and work" to keep "liberals" in control of the government stirred critical interest in Capitol Hill tonight.

Senator King, Democrat, Utah, said the speech, which was made by Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, might justify an investigation of WPA by a senatorial committee. There have been frequent charges, in congress and elsewhere, of "politics in relief."

Williams told a delegation of the Workers' Alliance, a relief labor organization, that "friends" of the jobless should be maintained in power. The Roosevelt administration, he added, had shown "what the government should do" for the unemployed.

Without specifically referring to coming primaries and elections for congressional and other posts, Williams said: "Keep your friends in power. Judge those friends by the crowd they run with when they come to you and ask for support."

Williams gave his blessing to the Workers' Alliance, saying he hoped it would continue to grow and eventually encompass the unemployed of the country. He said he was a firm believer in organization of workers and added that it was only through such organization that workers could hope to cope with organized capital.

"All government agencies," Sheppard said, "must be clear of all primary election campaigns."

Williams' statement brought from Senator Hatch, Democrat, New Mexico, who unsuccessfully fought for an amendment prohibiting political activity in the administration of relief, the remark that he thought "Mr. Williams has wandered far afield."

Here Is Route Piedmont-Stewart Buses Will Travel

BUSES TO REPLACE TROLLEYS FRIDAY

Will Go on Piedmont-Stewart Line; Other Changes Are Announced.

Modern motor bus service will be substituted for streetcars on the Piedmont and Stewart avenue lines beginning Friday, the Georgia Power Company announced yesterday.

The change brings lower fares for bus service to Morningside and involves extension of the Stewart avenue, Piedmont avenue and Virginia avenue lines, officials said.

A fleet of new, 35-passenger motor buses is ready to be placed in service on the affected lines Friday morning.

Changes and new routings include: 1. The Piedmont-Park Lane and Stewart avenue car lines will be combined into a single bus line to discontinue streetcar service on these lines entirely.

2. The Piedmont avenue line will be extended into Ansley Park and Morningside, and the present Morningside coach line will be discontinued.

3. The Stewart avenue buses will operate beyond the end of the present car line and will cover the route of the Sylvan Hills feeder bus line, which will be discontinued.

4. The Virginia avenue line will be extended to serve the Johnson Estates, a section now served by the Morningside line.

5. Fare on the new motor buses will be the same as streetcar fare—four tokens for 30 cents, which reduces the amount riders in the Morningside section will have to pay. However, fares on the Virginia avenue line will not be changed.

6. The Washington-Lakewood streetcar line will be combined with the Inman Park line and will be routed through town as at present on Mitchell and Broad to Marietta and then out Edgewood avenue.

7. Route of the new Piedmont-Stewart line will be: From the terminus in Sylvan Hills, over the feeder bus route to Whitehall, on Peachtree to Forrest avenue, on Forrest to Piedmont and on Piedmont to South Prado. The line divides there. One branch will go to Morningside via Felham road and back on Cumberland road to Piedmont. The other will go into Ansley Park on South Prado, Montgomery Ferry drive and Flagler drive to Rock Springs road and Boulevard, the end of the line. It returns to Montgomery Ferry drive on Boulevard and back into town on the outbound route in reverse order.

8. The Georgia Avenue-Grant Park car lines will be changed as follows: Starting at Grant park, west on Georgia avenue to Washington street, north on Washington to Mitchell, west on Mitchell to Broad, north on Broad to Marietta, east on Marietta to Edgewood, and out Edgewood to the present terminus in Inman Park.

WOMAN BADLY HURT IN AUTO MYSTERY

Mrs. C. S. Clark Believed by Police To Have Been Hurled From Car.

A woman identified as Mrs. C. S. Clark, of 364 Tazewell street, N. W., believed to have been thrown from an automobile, was admitted to Grady hospital in an unconscious condition last night. She was found in the middle of North avenue, near Maddox park.

Although Mrs. Clark regained consciousness later, hospital attaches said she was delirious and unable to tell what had happened. She was said to be suffering from multiple cuts and bruises on all parts of her head and body and possible internal injuries.

Two youths, Charles Stone, 22, of 2306 Sutton street, and Ralph Rivers, 20, of 616 Whittaker street, reported they were driving in North avenue when they saw what appeared to be a body in the street.

As they stopped to investigate, they saw a man drive off in a coupe, which had been parked near by.

The youths rushed the woman to the hospital. She finally was identified by her husband. He said Mrs. Clark had left their home at 2 o'clock the afternoon.

Policemen J. C. Hopkins and G. M. Ellis said Mrs. Clark was possibly the victim of a hit-and-run driver but considered it more likely she had been thrown from a moving car.

J. HOWARD WOOD DIES.
PITTSBURGH, June 27.—(P)—J. Howard Wood, 58, assistant manager of the Carnegie and United States Steel pension fund, died during a vacation trip to Ocean City, N. J., fund officials announced today.

In 40 Years He Earned $160,000—but Still He Can't Retire

That's big money—but some men earn that much only to spend or lose it all. Suppose this man's income averaged $4,000 for 40 years. That's $160,000 altogether. Yet today he has nothing but his job. You may not earn as much as that, but the principle is the same.

At one time a retirement income of $160 a month might have seemed very little to this man. But if he were only sure of it now—an income for the rest of his life that's not dependent on his job.

I HAVE GOOD JOBS FOR TWO MORE MEN!

A message from
PERCY H. HEARLE
Manager, Atlanta Agency

Two new men will join our staff in the near future, and you may be one of them. Recently we added five salesmen, but our agency is growing every day and we need two more now!

If you are the type of man we want, you need have no previous life insurance experience, but a wide acquaintance is desirable and a pleasing personality is essential. Our special training course is designed to equip you thoroughly for this work. We do not want salesmen who are now engaged in life insurance selling for another company.

Jefferson Standard is the largest ordinary life insurance company in the South, and our business is expanding rapidly. We offer you the opportunity for a permanent and highly profitable future—a life career limited only by your ability to go forward.

If you believe you have the necessary qualifications, come to see me. Or, if you live outside Atlanta and are interested in representing us in your own section, write to me.

CONSTITUTION PAYS TURNER TRIBUTE

Press Foreman Completes 60 Years of Service With Paper.

only plant where he has ever worked.

In those long years, Presidents have been elected and assassinated; wars have begun and ended; kings have been born, reared, enthroned and dethroned; huge vessels have been launched to be sunk at sea with terrific losses in human lives; the automobile, the wireless, the radio, the airplane have geared a restless world into dizzy speed; type-setting machines have made it possible for newspapers to keep step with the world's increasing production of news; photo-engraving has been invented and developed to record woman's emergence from corset-and-bustle awkwardness into the stream-lined standards set in the newly created Hollywood; man has blasted granite and marble in the quarries to be combined with steel in the building of massive cities—and while all this was happening to make a madhouse out of the editorial room, Bill Turner was plugging calmly away down in the press room interested chiefly in whether the ink was registering properly on the pages.

Concentrated on Job.

The importance of the news was never lost on Bill. He can sit down today and discuss his first-hand knowledge of world events as he viewed them on the pages of The Constitution during the last 60 years. However, his interest in the news has never swerved him in his concentration on his job—to deliver the newspapers on time for the mails, to get the entire run off so that The Constitution readers would have their papers at their breakfast tables.

This notable achievement of Bill Turner in The Constitution's press room while he quietly built a home and reared a family was considered worthy of recognition by the men who have worked with him during part of those years.

He has been on the job longer than anyone else in The Constitution's employ.

So, Bill Turner was honored guest at the weekly meeting of department heads last week.

Sleeps Late.

As foreman of the press room, Bill is supposed to be at these weekly luncheons when The Constitution's affairs are discussed. Bill, however, works all night and sleeps every day until well into the afternoon. Whatever he has to say to others about the building is said to each person individually when he reaches the building late in the afternoon to set his presses for the night's run.

As a special concession to his comrades, however, Bill set the alarm clock last Thursday and appeared at the luncheon.

There Major Clark Howell, editor and publisher of The Constitution, discussed Bill's achievement and its importance to The Constitution.

"Bill Turner was the most loyal friend my father had during his lifetime," declared the Major.

Bill Turner and Major Howell's father were schoolmates together in the Walker Street school.

"When I finished grade school, I had to go to work," says Bill. "I needed a job and Clark Howell gave it to me. He took me down to his father, Captain Evan Howell, who owned The Constitution, and had his father put me to work. Clark Howell went on to college but before he did, he got me a job and I've got it yet."

A plaque was struck in recognition of Bill Turner's memorable 60 years and presented to him at the luncheon.

That plaque symbolizes the 60 years of loyal effort that carried Bill from apprenticeship in "the old plant" on Broad street during The Constitution's early days into the foremanship in the "new plant" on Alabama street, where he still works every night side by side with the loyal crews he has organized and taught to handle a difficult and intricate task.

In that steady rise from the lowest to the highest in the pressroom, Bill considers his most interesting was when he was "holer."

"Important Work."

"It was when we first started using the rotary presses," Bill explains. "The crew would be working at one end of the press and the rolls of paper would be at the other. All of a sudden, the folder would get jammed and the gripper wouldn't take the sheets as they were cut off. The next paper would pile up and the next and the next and pretty soon the whole press would be in a mess with the paper knotted up and piled up so that it would take a long time to clean the thing out and start it off again."

"So, we had to have a 'holer.' I was it. Whenever the gripper missed, I'd holler at the top of my voice and they'd shut down the press. It was an important job."

The first press that Bill worked on 60 years ago was operated by water, fed from a cistern, after the manner of a mill wheel. Then came presses operated by a stationary steam engine. Today, electric current whirled the motors that produce today's output.

"I doubt if Bill Turner's record can be equaled in Atlanta," said Major Howell at the luncheon. "I doubt if there is a man in Atlanta who is still working for the same company where he started 60 years ago."

Constitution Pays Tribute to Bill Turner for 60 Years of Service

Today rounds out 60 full years that Bill Turner, right, has worked in the press room of The Constitution. This record-breaking service has been commemorated in a plaque which Major Clark Howell, left, editor and publisher of The Constitution, is shown handing to Bill while Hugh H. Trotter, vice president and business manager, looks on at the ceremonies honoring Mr. Turner for faithful services.

F. D. R. Cites 'True Friendship' In Welcome to Swedish Royalty

WILMINGTON, Del., June 27.—(AP)—The text of President Roosevelt's address at Christina Park here today follows:

Your Royal Highnesses:

This is a day of happy significance to three nations. I welcome you, for you represent a true friendship under which we have lived from the earliest times unmarred by any rift, unbroken by any misunderstanding. You are three welcome to our shores.

It is a matter of keen sorrow to me that his royal highness, the Crown Prince, is unable to be at this historic spot today, but all of us pray that his recovery will be speedy and complete—and I personally look forward to welcoming him and his family at Hyde Park or at Washington the end of this week.

NEW BONDS UNITE SWEDEN AND U. S.

I accept with profound gratitude, in behalf of the people of the United States, this noble monument placed here through the generosity of the people of Sweden. I am confident that to generations yet unborn in Sweden and in the United States it will typify close association and continued good-will between our two nations.

I am fortunate in having personal association with the colony of New Sweden, for one of my ancestors, William Beekman, served as vice director or governor of the colony of New Sweden on the Delaware river from 1638 to 1663. And I am also proud that Swedish blood runs in my veins, for another of my ancestors, Martin Hoffman, was an early Swedish settler of New Amsterdam.

My friend, the Governor of Delaware, holds office in direct official succession from the governors of New Sweden—which reminds me of a recent rhyme descriptive of the famous Governor, Johan Printz, that doughty pioneer who is said to have tipped the scales at 300 pounds.

"No Governor of Delaware Before or since, Has weighed as much As Johan Printz."

Your royal highness, it is a privilege to make grateful acknowledgment of the outstanding contributions made to our national life by men and women of Swedish blood. To this spot came the pioneers. But in the succeeding centuries tens of thousands of others have come to our shores and added their strength and their fine qualities of citizenship to the American nation. In every phase of our history, in every endeavor—in commerce and industry, in science and art, in agriculture, in education and religion, in statecraft and government, they have well played their part.

Nor have we, as Americans, forgotten that after the War of the Revolution, Sweden was the first neutral European power, to negotiate a treaty of amity and trade with our young and struggling nation. All these things we recall with grateful hearts.

And to you who are here as representatives of the people of Finland, I extend an equally hearty welcome. Men and women from Finland have also contributed greatly to our American civilization. Finland, small in size, but mighty in honor, occupies an especially warm place in the American heart.

Sweden, Finland and the United States will continue their service in the days to come in the cause of friendship and of peace among the nations of the world.

THOMAS J. MOBLEY DIES IN 87TH YEAR

Retired Shop Foreman for Southern Railway System.

Thomas J. Mobley, 86, retired shop foreman for the Southern Railway System, died yesterday morning at his home, 1034 Capitol avenue, S. E., after a lengthy illness.

A native of Appling county, he left there as a youth and for many years was engaged as a cow-puncher in Texas and Oklahoma. Returning to Georgia, he settled in Telfair county, later moving to Jesup, where he lived until he moved to Atlanta in 1901.

He began working for the railroad as an apprentice more than 50 years ago. He was a Mason and a member of the Methodist church.

Surviving are three sons, M. F. and W. T. Mobley, of Atlanta, and C. F. Mobley, of Hapeville; one daughter, Mrs. I. F. Redwine, of Columbia, S. C., and one sister, Mrs. H. H. Hutto, of Baxley, Ga. Funeral services will be announced by Brandon-Bond-Condron.

THE PRICES OF STEEL

It would be difficult to recall any economic development within the past couple of decades that holds greater potentiality of good for the south than the reduction in the prices of steel. For that reduction also wiped out the price differentials between Pittsburgh produced steel and Birmingham steel.

What this will mean to the south, in full, can only be demonstrated by the developments of the future. That it will bring an industrial expansion greater than any period of the past may be accepted as a foregone conclusion.

For many years steel was sold on what was known as the "Pittsburgh Plus" plan. That meant the cost to any purchaser was the price in Pittsburgh, plus freight charges from that point. It made no difference where the steel was made, the cost of transportation from Pittsburgh was added. The steel powers felt that, if they established steel mills in other parts of the country, they should benefit by the resultant savings in freight costs.

It was in 1924 that the Pittsburgh plus price system was ordered discontinued. However, since that date the differential against other parts of the country has been maintained by making the price higher at other points of steel manufacture, such as Birmingham and Chicago. The price cuts announced last week do away with that differential, by the simple method of making larger reductions on Birmingham and Chicago prices than on the Pittsburgh price.

Thus, for the first time in several decades, southern purchasers of fabricated steel can buy at Birmingham for the same basic price as at Pittsburgh and, if they are nearer the former point, themselves enjoy the benefit of the lowered delivery cost.

There is, of course, the differential in freight rates still to be overcome, but it is believed, and hoped, that the present hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission, directed by the Southeastern Governors' Conference, will result in doing away with this long-standing economic injustice against this section.

The growing importance of steel in modern life is realized when it is understood that the tonnage of iron and steel in industrial use, per capita, in the United States, is approximately nine times as great today as it was 40 years ago. Steel enters into practically every industrial activity and a price difference of two or three dollars per ton can make all the difference in the world in industrial success.

It is gratifying that the steel companies affected by the price reductions have intimated it may not be necessary to accompany them with wage cuts. It is expected that greater consumption and the consequent enlarged activity of the mills will render pay slashes unnecessary.

Certainly, if the industrial growth expected in the south as a result of the passing of the steel price differentials comes to pass, the steel mills in this section of the country will enjoy a prosperity unknown for many years.

The entire situation promises a new prosperity for the south which may result in a realization of that dream which the most ardent of southern enthusiasts have nourished for so many years.

ALL AMERICANS TODAY

Whatever their battle flag, the men of the south and of the north gathering this week at Gettysburg have many things in common. They are Americans. They know the beauty of "taps"—the notes they have heard through the years as their comrades, one by solitary one, were lowered into the earth to join yet other comrades in the last bivouac. And for each, this final tribute means. They know the futility of war, know the bitterness that melts with the passing of the years of peace. They have carried the faith, but have seen others without the wisdom of their years lose sight of the beacon. They have seen others march away, returning as they did with thinned files, in the same futility. They have known the gratitude of their people.

These things they know. These and love, beauty and kindness. Today, new generations look upon them as men apart. The things for which they fought on that bloody field at Gettysburg have become to these younger people but cold letters on a printed page. As a nation we have lost sight of their reality in flesh and blood, and have lost in the haze of time the lesson they have to bring. A lesson to which all should listen well. They have mellowed, have lost the unthinking fire that confuses reason.

On that sun-drenched Pennsylvania countryside they are met to re-dedicate the principles for which they fought, each for the right they upheld. The St. Andrews bars of the Confederate battle flag will mingle with the flag of the United States, just as the dead of both sides have met in the sod beneath.

MISLEADING PICTURE

Spotting a Nazi under every stone turned in a survey of South America, Carleton Beals in the current issue of Harper's Magazine views with alarm future prospects in trade, politics and war to the south, then abruptly decides things are not so bad after all by admitting "the account given here of German activities is perforce a somewhat one-sided presentation"—presenting on less than three-quarters of a page the bright side of a dark cloud he has spread over more than 10 pages.

Ordinarily an article of this nature might be passed by as interesting but inconsequential. In this instance, however, there is furnished an example of viewing with alarm which presents an entirely distorted picture of a situation which should command the utmost clarity and sound thought.

Granted that a part of what Beals portrays is correct, the overdrawn delineation of conditions leaves an entirely erroneous conception of the actual status of affairs. This may be harmful not only to the South Americans but to the North Americans this country must look to for closer relationships with these people.

During the last year the attitude of the governments of South American republics has swung violently from Germanic ideology back to the Democratic. They have pursued the chimera of Nazi friendship, of aski marks and "free" official missions. They have, luckily and sagaciously, ripped the swastika veil to find the pock marks beneath.

While articles of this nature may make interesting—if not constructive—reading, they lend themselves to loose thinking. Friendships are not maintained that way. And, it cannot be repeated too often, to the south lies one of the greatest untapped markets of the world, and friendly people who ask only understanding and a helping hand.

They like the Nazi credo and all it stands for even less than the people of the United States, remembering more vividly their struggle for liberty and its preservation, even though that preservation may be said, at times, to be almost nominal.

ATLANTA ADVANCES

Ninety-three companies with annual payrolls totaling $40,000 have located in Atlanta since the first of the year, according to the semi-annual review of the Chamber of Commerce. This news is extremely gratifying, in more ways than one.

Of the enterprises, 61 have established factories, distributing, sales or executive organizations, while 32 have placed representatives here to cover the southeast. This means further momentum to the general business life of the city, with the added advantages of new diversified enterprises becoming part of Atlanta's commercial fabric.

The new companies employ nearly 600 persons, a cheering fact in periods of normality, and a genuinely encouraging fact in times of economic stress and widespread unemployment. Besides the locating of the new enterprises, the Chamber reports receiving more than 4,000 inquiries for industrial and business information.

That Atlanta has much to offer firms seeking to establish here is well known to its citizens. It is good to know that the knowledge of the advantages of Atlanta are constantly spreading beyond the city's limits, and that word of what this city has to offer is going out to the entire country.

Much has been said and written of the splendid geographical location of Atlanta, making it the hub of the southeast. Atlanta's growth through the years has been remarkable and its industrial expansion is something of which all who live here may be justifiably proud.

The Chamber's report proves conclusively that Atlanta is still marching forward.

An eastern asylum for the insane reports not a single golfer among the many inmates. Yet a padded cell makes the ideal indoor driving range.

Whatever the American form of government, we should have to have congress. It feels so good when it stops.

Parents of an eastern helms thought her fiancé, a butter-and-egg man, "too poor." It was not like this in the brave days of speak-easies and Coolidge.

There is an alternate route for the nations, known as over the warpath to the poorhouse.

There is no Austria; therefore there is no Austrian debt. Thus the new logic and the new arithmetic move forward hand in hand.

The longest day of the year has passed. So now it's O.K. to say, "How short the days and heavyweight title fights are getting!"

JAPAN FACES FACTS

(From The Detroit Free Press.)

A report from Tokyo that the provisions of the new national mobilization law will soon be enforced indicates pretty plainly that the Japanese government considers the Chinese war far from won.

For the provisions of the mobilization act are of a sort that usually are imposed on a people only when they are engaged in a desperate and undetermined struggle.

The forecast is that Japan will undertake to mobilize all its man power and natural resources; will determine its financial and economic policy on the basis of an interpretation of Chinese developments to which all other considerations will become subordinate; will arrange for orderly war-time production and importation of the necessities of life; will urge economy upon the people so that they can purchase national war bonds, and will promote, to the utmost, foreign trade by enlarging exports.

The economic exploitation of North China is to be expedited and the development of other economic blocs hastened.

In other words, Japan is training and stripping for action in what it clearly considers a life and death struggle.

THE CAPITAL PARADE

By JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

MEDIATION IN SPAIN WASHINGTON, June 27.—Within the next two or three weeks, the State Department expects the "realism" of Neville Chamberlain to be put to a great test. The cold, harsh, gaudy prime minister has been playing a deep and little understood game, with the simple object of achieving a partial checkmate of Germany. With the closing of the French border and the agreement for the withdrawal of the foreign mercenaries from Spain, the time has come for the culminating move, if Chamberlain and Great Britain have the strength to make it.

Specifically, Chamberlain's plan has always been to liquidate the Spanish conflict, at whatever cost, and then, having ended the only active joint venture of the Italo-Germany partnership, to detach Italy again at whatever cost, from its German alliance.

The closing of the French border and the promises of recall of the so-called "volunteers" are the first necessary steps toward a mediation in Spain. It is by mediation between the forces of democracy and the forces of Franco that Chamberlain has expected from the first to end the Spanish troubles. As long as a year ago, the British government had an elaborate plan for a Spanish settlement ready prepared.

The plan would probably not apply today. It provided for supervised election (which would certainly favor the Loyalists), the re-establishment of the Republican form of government, and a sort of federal system which would allow almost complete autonomy to Catalonia and a large measure of local freedom to other Spanish provinces. Obviously, Franco and his backers would not now willingly agree to such a plan, holding out the prospect, as it does, of a peaceful sacrifice to the Spanish people of all the conquests gained by a vast expenditure of foreign arms and foreign armies. In a new settlement, the sacrifices would almost surely be demanded of the Loyalists.

SIGNS AND PORTENTS Dispatches in the last few days have convinced the more optimistic minds in the State Department that the chances for early mediation in Spain are not too bad. The signs and portents have been numerous, but the most important are:

(1) Indications that Mussolini is sincerely eager to make the Anglo-Italian pact operative. The pact can become effective only when the Spanish conflict is settled.

(2) Indications that Mussolini is also eager to conclude a similar pact with France, which must also wait on the Spanish conflict.

(3) Further indications that German aggression in the Danubian valley, which Mussolini once conceived as an Italian sphere of influence, are causing a frenzy of anxiety at Rome. The desire of Mussolini to be free to keep his friend, Hitler, from going too far in eastern Europe is the chief trump card of Chamberlain and Daladier.

If these signs and portents mean anything, moves will be made at an early date to appoint a Spanish mediation commission composed of representatives of England, France, Italy and Germany. Russia is likely to be left out in the cold. A weakening of the French relationship with the Soviets is part of the price of a change in the Italian course.

GERMANY AND THE ODDS As usual, the obstacle to a peaceful, European settlement is Germany. The French, cold-blooded, European settlement is Germany. The French, cold-blooded, European settlement is Germany. The French, cold-blooded, European settlement is Germany.

But the closing of the border to the Loyalists is conditional on the withdrawal of Italian and German mercenaries from Franco's armies, and the cutting off of Franco's Italian and German war supplies. The foreign office and the Quai d'Orsay are satisfied according to the State Department's reports, that the Italians are abiding by the agreement. The Germans, however, are not. And unless they can be induced to do so rather soon, Chamberlain will lose all that he has gained.

These odds that Chamberlain will fail are very heavy. Pressure from Italy on France will not be enough to procure mediation. The Germans will have to give a tacit consent. But at least the apparent fact that only Germany is likely to hold out indicates that Chamberlain has traveled a measurable distance toward his desired checkmate.

Youth dreams dreams

But in good jobs

Find greatest joy
Through years.

Remarkable Anniversary

Once upon a time, children, long, long ago, an Atlanta boy went to work in his first job. This column today must constitute a part of the story of that boy and a small part of the tribute due him.

On this day when the youngster, just out of school, started to earn his own living, The Constitution building we know today was not built. This paper was housed on Broad street, between Alabama and the railroad.

The particular job the hero of our story secured was in the pressroom. He was assigned to be engineer of a folding machine. It was a new machine and one of the first of its kind in the south.

You see, The Constitution had achieved the really proud distinction of a circulation of more than 4,000. The press used didn't fold the paper. Just printed two pages at a time on one side and then they turned it over and printed two more on the reverse.

The boy ran his folding machine with high efficiency. It achieved the marvelous speed of 1,500 folds per hour.

And,

Today.

The name of this boy was—and is, for that matter—Bill Turner.

Today is June 28, 1938. The day on which Bill started that first job of his was June 28, 1878. That is exactly 60 years ago.

And Bill Turner, foreman for these many years, is still coming to his job, every day, in the pressroom of The Constitution.

I doubt if there is another man in Atlanta today who can point to 60 consecutive years of service in the same department of the same organization. The nearest approach to it I know is Robert L. Cooney, who has, I understand, been associated with the same insurance company for 58 or 59 years.

Bill Turner today is a man well known. In fact I understand he has been a friend to most of all through those 60 years. I know this is true for the past 26 of 'em.

He is not tall, but every inch of him is man. He is never seen without half a cigar protruding from the northwest corner of his mouth. He doesn't smoke. Just holds the unlit cigar in his mouth. It has been rumored he considers it bad luck to light even one cigar off a match.

Outworn

Thirteen Presses.

Bill has been the presiding genius over 13 complete sets of presses. Each one an improvement over its predecessor. Now, as he stands on the catwalk or strolls between the giants that hum so sweetly in today's pressroom, he foresees the time when even these marvels will be ready for discard. And he expects to direct the running of the fourteenth set when they are installed. The reason those presses hum so sweetly, of course, is that nothing, machine or man—or woman—could fail to hum sweetly when Bill is around to grin at them.

There isn't a man in The Constitution family more popular than Bill. Probably because, in addition to being a good friend, he is the apogee of co-operation. If it wasn't for his co-operation, and the magic he can perform with those presses, the paper would be in bad way many an early morning.

But, so long as Bill is there to co-operate—and to grumble when things go too wrong—I guess the paper will go on to press on time.

To be perfectly frank, I have suspected Bill, on occasion, of a little innocent shenanigan. You see, his life is centered on those presses. And he won't let them be subject to anything he thinks tinged with unfairness. Or have "em worked too hard. So, I suspect, he has on occasion shaken his wise old head and informed others of us that such and such a proposed operation "just can't be done." Maybe the plan in question couldn't be done. But I suspect if Bill knew it could be done, but knew also it would impose unusual strain upon his presses, he'd stretch a point to protect those pets of his and say "can't do it," anyway. And that would be that.

Anyway, he's a grand guy, is Bill. I only hope he and I will both be here to celebrate the end of his century of service in the pressroom, instead of the sixtieth year—just a kid record, says Bill.

Twenty-Five

Years Ago Today.

From The Constitution of Saturday, June 28, 1913:

"In the presence of both branches of the general assembly gathered in the chamber of the house of representatives and with the simplest possible ceremonies the reins of state will be turned over at noon today by the retiring governor, Joseph M. Brown, to his successor in office, John M. Slaton. There will be no military display nor red tape of any sort."

One Word More

By RALPH MCGILL.

Mr. Rockne and The Dumb Swede America and Sweden are celebrating the tercentenary of the landing of the Swedes in Delaware in 1638. I am reminded of a story which originated at Notre Dame when the late Knute Rockne was making football history and bringing the game to a peak it has never attained since his death.

One of his greatest players was Jim Crowley. Crowley, one of the few who could cross verbal swords with the Old Man, was Irish in descent. One day he said, while the squad listened, grinning:

"Rock, is there anything in the world dumber than a dumb Swede?"

"Yes," flashed Rockne, "a smart Irishman."

The squad howled and the chastened Crowley joined in.

Vaudeville character actors popularized the "dumb Swede." Nothing could be funnier from the fact. It so happens that Sweden has managed to be at peace for a long span of centuries. Time was when it was a world power. In those days she used to swarm over and defeat Russia before breakfast.

The word Russia itself derives from a Swedish word. Sweden learned the value of peace. She has no great standing army or navy. Therefore there is no great expense for armament. There is no large war debt to liquidate because Sweden has had no wars. There is relatively little unemployment; labor legislation is sound and good; the nation probably has more gold back than it has money in any nation in Europe; it has its major problems but it is meeting them. All of which doesn't sound very dumb.

In these years of stress and economic disorder, the statistics show the Swedes descended from the Swedish pioneers and those who followed them from the north country, have been per capita less of a problem and less in need of government aid than the average citizen. The Nordic fiber remains tougher than most human fibers.

As a matter of fact, the Swedes laid the foundations for the states of Delaware and Pennsylvania and have in more ways than one, rendered great service in behalf of the nation.

The Cheese-Box There was, for instance, that tribulation of night of March 8, 1862, at Hampton Roads. That day the word had gone out that the wooden navies of the world had been ended. A strange ship, armored with steel rails, had ushered in the day of the iron-clad. The federal fleet had suffered terribly. The next day it all would be destroyed.

That night, at 9 o'clock, a small, curious ship tied beside the Federal gunboat, Minnesota. At 6 o'clock the next morning began the battle of the Merrimack and the Monitor. The day ended. The Merrimack had withdrawn, worsted if not defeated.

It is not much to insist that the Union was saved that day by the Monitor. The war might have turned then and there but for a Swede named John Ericsson. He had given his life and his intelligence to the service of his country. Today, on the walls of one of the great rooms in the magnificent city hall of Stockholm, Sweden, you may see, worked in mosaic, some of the life of this Swedish American. Or, more properly speaking, this American. There is no need of the hyphen when speaking of the men Sweden has sent to America.

From November 5, 1781, to November 5, 1782, John Hanson, whose ancestors had come from Sweden, served as "President of the United States in Congress Assembled." General George Washington so addressed him when the general visited congress on November 28, 1781.

From Swedish stock came a young aviator named Charles Lindbergh.

We Could Use More Swedes This thing we call democracy and to which much lip service and less sincere and unselfish service is given, can be measured only by the integrity, responsibility and the products of its members.

Down through the centuries the Americans with Swedish blood have rendered such service as to make them valued members of our democracy. The real American tradition, it seems to me, is the tradition of work and the dignity of working at a job. It was not speech-making or writing or talking which made America, but work, and the dignity of work.

The thin lines of steel went west as steel mills made the skies red. Great engines came forth to run on the rails and pull cars. The automobile made roads and new factories. As the prairies grew less and as the freedom of the land lessened, something was lost. It can't be remade or recovered, which ever is the answer, in a short time. Nor can it be remade or recovered by lip service to democracy. It will, as before, require work and an appreciation of work as such. It is a problem of education, of loyalty and a profound faith in democracy.

I think we could use more Swedes. Today most of the Swedes are remaining at home. Their own land has become one of opportunity. Their own democracy has called to them. It was the good ship Kalmars Nyckel which sailed out past the bastions of the harbor at Gothenburg in 1638. They brought some great Americans, geniuses and those who knew the dignity of work. They have helped make America great. We can use all they send to us.

Leonardo Was the Greatest of Geniuses, But He Would Have Failed in the Grocery Business

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Some years ago, four men in a western city decided to build a mill to process a certain commodity. Call it buckwheat. Each man put up $25,000, and one put up another $25,000 for his son.

This son was a brilliant young man who had just graduated cum laude at Harvard. He was so gifted, in fact, that his professors had urged him to remain as an instructor, but he preferred a career in business.

The four investors, being occupied with other affairs, made the young man business manager of the new enterprise. They couldn't as they said, fool with it.

Some months later, when the mill was ready to operate, one of the four received a call from a railway freight agent.

"What about this buckwheat?" the agent demanded.

There were carloads of it and trainloads of it in the yards, all accumulating demurrage.

The young business manager, without consulting anybody, had gone into neighboring states to buy all the buckwheat in sight. He had bid up the price $20 a ton above the market. And all of it had come in c. o. d., and the sellers were clamoring for their money.

The four investors pooled their resources and borrowed $250,000 to pay for the buckwheat. Then they got it started through the mill. But the market dropped before they got it processed, and that finished them. They paid back the $250,000 they had borrowed, but they had to sell the mill to do it.

Mankind can be divided roughly into two classes—the practical mathematicians and the poets who dream. They are equally necessary, and may be equally brilliant, but they have different kinds of brains.

Teaching a hard-boiled businessman to write or enjoy poetry is no more difficult than teaching a poet to be a shrewd businessman.

Failure to be a businessman is no disgrace. Einstein and Freud, two of the greatest men of our time, know nothing of business. Einstein will place a pay check in some book and forget it.

Because they have brilliant minds, dreamers are sometimes given charge of great enterprises, and the result is invariably tragic. It would be as reasonable to pick up a shrewd junk dealer and make him arbiter of the nation's literature, music and art.

WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

What Next

In Europe?

NEW YORK—This column has always maintained that there will be no war in Europe. Even at very critical moments, as on a recent occasion when it seemed that the kettle would explode over Czechoslovakia, we held that if war should have broken out, it would have come against the desires of everybody concerned. Adolf Hitler included. But this does not mean that Czechoslovakia will remain as it is, an independent state in the heart of Europe. It is impossible to keep the Sudeten Germans outside the Reich, and I do not see why there should be so much opposition and indignation and fury on the part of democratic persons against the incorporation of the Sudeten in the Reich, if the right of self-determination for small peoples as enunciated by Woodrow Wilson, was a good thing.

The Sudeten have protested from the very first hour against their separation from Austria after the dismemberment of the dual monarchy. They have never ceased to clamor for a return to the German community and have many times pointed out that they were treated as an alien element, not as an autonomous minority, in the Czech state. They have heard of, when they themselves were still democrats. It was, in fact, as democrats looking for democracy, that they demanded their liberation from the Czech yoke.

But now that Germany occupies itself with the question and brings pressure to bear to solve the Sudeten question, lo and behold, all the democrats and liberals in the world are standing on their heads screaming about treason and Nazi provocation and German ruthlessness and all the rest of it.

It was the same with the Anschluss, the reunion of Germany with Austria. Liberals, Socialists, Democrats, everybody agreed years ago that the two belonged together, that nothing could keep the two countries from joining ultimately and yet, when it finally happened—and without bloodshed—the world was made to stand agast by the commentators.

Vienna Was Crucified. It is true, of course, that the Anschluss brought a ghastly evil in its wake in that the Jewish community of Vienna was nailed to the hooked cross and that conditions prevail there now which surpass the darkest days of the Inquisition in horror. But all this could have been prevented.

If the democracies, such as France and Britain, had been a little more lenient with Germany in the 15 years after the war, if they had made it possible for the democratic republic of Germany to lift some of the burdens of Versailles from the enslaved German people, given them breathing space and a little sunlight, Hitler would never have been heard of.

But now it is too late. He is going to carry out all those things which Chancellor Bruening once told the French government that he would carry out. Bruening came to Paris and told Laval: Unless we can have an alleviation of the burdens that crush

OATS ELIMINATED AS CLUE IN DEATH OF PEEK AND WIFE

Investigators Learn Former Owner Had Hauled Grain in the Machine.

Oats found in the wrecked automobile of J. Ed Peek were eliminated yesterday by investigators as possible clue in the mysterious slaying of Peek and his wife.

Investigators learned that the car had been sold to a dealer by a farmer, who had hauled oats in the machine.

"The car was cleaned out, before it was sold to Peek," an investigator said, "but no doubt a few grains were in a space behind the rear seats. When the car crashed at the bottom of the railroad cut, it jarred the oats loose."

As investigators continued the search for the maker of the type of rope with which Mrs. Peek was strangled, T. O. Sturdivant, former chief of Atlanta police and veteran investigator, told Commissioner Charles M. Head, of Cobb county, he "sure would like to work on the investigation."

"Liked Ed Peek." "I was in Marietta, talking to the commissioner about other matters, and the Peek case came up," said Sturdivant. "I told him I'd be glad if they hired me to work in the investigation, because I sure would like to see that case cleared up."

"I liked Ed Peek, and he and his first wife were very helpful to me in the Ben Lichtenstein murder. Being an old officer, naturally I'm interested in seeing that mysteries like that are solved, and the guilty ones punished."

Former Chief Sturdivant added that he was not put on the case, however.

Investigators reported only one new development in search for the rope—that it is a type sold in Georgia. Officers are checking mills. Analysis of the rope shows it has 285 threads in one strand, 58 in another and 242 in the third. It is of a cheap cotton variety, 3-8 to 1-2 inch in diameter, of the type made by textile mills.

Robbery Theory Advanced. It was also learned that Peek's pocketbook and glasses are missing. A $5 bill and some small change were in his pockets when he and his wife were found early last Tuesday morning.

A "murder for robbery" theory also cropped up when Hamp Riggs, a farmer living near Carrollton, said he saw Peek in a roadside refreshment stand Monday afternoon. He said Peek displayed a roll of bills, taking about $50 from a trouser pocket, placing it in his wallet, and then putting the wallet in a hip pocket.

Riggs said Peek appeared cheerful, and playfully tossed bottles up at other patrons.

Tells of Seeing Peek. L. J. Gibbs, who operates a small mill and store near the Atlanta line in Carroll county, came to Marietta yesterday in company with the Austell chief of police and told of seeing Peek about 10 o'clock Monday night. According to George McMillan, Cobb county deputy, Gibbs said he saw Peek talking to four men in a black sedan parked near the intersection of the Marietta-Austell road and Bankhead highway—about two miles west of the scene of the Peek's death.

Gibbs said Peek's car was parked near by and there were one or two women in it. He did not recognize anyone except Peek, with whom he was well acquainted.

He asked Peek, "What's the trouble?" thinking he might have had an accident, but Peek replied, "I'm just talking to these fellows." Gibbs said he drove on and thought nothing further about it until the story came out in the papers. Deputy McMillan pointed out this would account for movements of the Peek's for an additional hour on that fatal Monday night.

GRADY CALLAWAY TO DIRECT HOTEL

Succeeds J. A. Brinson at Robert Fulton.

Grady Callaway has been appointed manager of the Robert Fulton hotel, succeeding J. A. Brinson, who resigned recently. The appointment was announced by John H. Candler, president of Briarcliff, Inc.

A veteran hotel man, Callaway was associated with the Piedmont and Wincoff hotels in Atlanta for 23 years, and for five years managed the Grady hotel in Macon. He has been assistant manager at the Robert Fulton for the last two and one-half years. He is a member of the Atlanta Hotel Association, and a former vice president of the Georgia Hotel Association.

Collection of Debt By Force Outlawed

Force or intimidation cannot be used to collect a debt, the Georgia supreme court ruled yesterday in a case resulting from the sensational $30,000 holdup of Thomas K. Glenn, Atlanta banker, by William T. Moyers, Atlanta attorney, now serving a five-to-10-year robbery sentence.

The court held that the "violent taking of money or property from the person of another by force or intimidation for the purpose of applying same to the payment of a debt" constitutes robbery.

DR. JOHN GREENE LAST RITES TODAY

Rev. W. H. Riner Will Officiate at Services This Afternoon.

Funeral services for Dr. John W. Greene, 83, resident of Atlanta and Murray county for more than 55 years, who died Sunday at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Stephen T. Brown, 1088 Oxford road, N. E., will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill, with the Rev. W. H. Riner officiating. Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Born in Murray county, Dr. Greene was the descendant of pioneer Georgia families. He married the daughter of Senator Smith Treadwell, of South Carolina, in 1876, and moved to Atlanta in 1881.

Joining his father, the late Dr. H. H. Greene, an officer in the Confederate army, and two brothers, in the practice of medicine, he became widely known here. With them, he purchased and developed a large section of north-west Atlanta.

Retiring from active medical practice many years ago, he devoted most of his time to caring for his business interests and at his plantation in north Georgia, Mountain View. He moved to Mrs. Brown's home on the death of his wife in 1931 and has resided there since.

He was a member of the Primitive Baptist church.

2 ATLANTA YOUTHS WIN C.M.T.C. HONORS

William Reese, Louis Kennedy Named in Report.

Two Atlanta youths have achieved high honors in military work and athletics with the Citizens' Military Training Camp forces at Fort McClellan, Ala., according to reports received here. They are William Reese, 3191 Pace's Ferry road, trainee lieutenant of Company L, and Louis L. Kennedy, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Kennedy, platoon sergeant.

Reese, a senior C. M. T. C. trainee, is active in camp sports, being defending champion in the 220 and 440-yard dashes. Last year he was finalist in his weight on the camp boxing team and a member of the doubles championship tennis team. He has added volleyball and basketball to his athletic endeavors this season.

Kennedy, a third-year man, is a pitcher on the championship softball team of Company L, and a member of the camp sprint team.

CLOUDY AND WARMER FORECAST FOR TODAY

Rising temperature and cloudy skies are forecast for Atlanta today, but there is little likelihood of rain, according to officials of the United States Weather Bureau, following the general downpour yesterday morning.

The mercury is expected to hit 84 degrees today, rising from a low of 62 degrees. Ranges yesterday were from 69 to 83.

Precipitation yesterday as recorded by the weather bureau showed 0.6 inches for Atlanta, with 0.21 inches being registered at Candler Airport. George W. Mindling, meteorologist, said the rain was general from Tampa to St. Louis in the west and along the southeast and east to Maine.

SOFT COAL HEARINGS WILL BEGIN JULY 13

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(P)—The Coal Commission announced today it would conduct soft coal production hearings here July 13 for producers in 12 midwestern, southern and southwestern states.

The commission will receive information to determine the weighted average production costs in those states before asking producers' district boards to propose minimum prices for their areas.

The commission said seven district boards had proposed weighted average costs. They included: Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia, $2.42; Arkansas and part of Oklahoma, $3.62.

FLUKER COUNSEL WILL MAKE PLEA TO COURT TODAY

Rivers Announces Condemned Man Will Get Respite 'If Necessary.'

Execution of Odie V. Fluker for the mystery shooting of Eddie Guyol will be held up until every legal resource to save him from the electric chair has been exhausted, it was revealed yesterday as Attorney Russell G. Turner prepared to argue at noon today a motion to vacate the court's sentence in Fulton superior court.

Governor Rivers announced he would grant another respite, if necessary, in order to give Fluker time to plead for his life.

Fluker was sentenced last week to die in the chair July 8, after his second executive respite had expired. A motion to vacate the judgment of the court, scheduled for a hearing yesterday, was held over until today.

The Governor said several weeks ago he felt there was more to be brought out in the Fluker case and that he would grant "all the respite necessary" in order to give the condemned man's attorney time to present his case.

Meanwhile, Turner was preparing to appear before the grand jury tomorrow morning as that body reopens the two-year-old controversy over who killed Guyol.

As Fluker was resented, Turner charged he had affidavit evidence indicating Mrs. Guyol killed her husband and that Walter Cutcliffe and Police Lieutenant C. E. McCarty were in a conspiracy in connection with the case. Solicitor General John A. Boykin said he would ask the grand jury to hold a special session tomorrow to look into the evidence.

Turner said he was preparing grand jury subpoenas for Police Chief M. A. Hornsby, Lieutenant of Detectives J. A. McKibben, Detective M. B. Johnson and C. L. Taylor—who were assigned to the Fluker case—Captain B. W. Seabrook, of the police identification bureau, and several other police officials. He added that subpoenas for persons who swore on affidavits he will present to the grand jury also were being prepared.

Judge Paul S. Etheridge will hear the motion to vacate the court's judgment today.

'Red' Townsend Quits State Job To Help Rivers

J. M. C. (Red) Townsend, a special assistant attorney general assigned to the State Revenue Department, resigned yesterday.

He announced he would devote his entire time during the summer to campaigning.

"Under this new system they won't let you hold a job and look after politics on the side," Red complained. "Therefore I'm quitting the job. I've been knee deep in every Georgia political campaign since I put on my pants and I'm going into this one, too. I know if I tried to keep the job and get mixed up in politics I would embarrass the Governor."

Along with his resignation, Townsend tendered Governor Rivers a check for $350 for use in the Governor's campaign for re-election. The Governor accepted both.

"Red Townsend is my good friend and faithful supporter," the Governor said. "He has made a good man both in the highway department and in the revenue department. I know how much he loves politics and I know he will have a happy time rounding up votes during the summer."

Townsend's initials stand for Johnson Murphy Claggett. For a number of years he represented Dade county in the general assembly, sponsoring a number of important pieces of legislation.

Artificial Thumb Proves Hitchhiking Boon

Atlanta Crosses Continent With 'Ride Please,' But Trip Is in Vain.

Hitchhikers might take a tip from Raymond Cato, of 442 Hammond street, who has just crossed the continent with the aid of his artificial thumb.

Before he left Atlanta for Los Angeles last March 11, Cato fashioned a thumb out of plywood and painted on it, "Ride, Please." This, he believed, would attract the attention of passing motorists.

The thumb was successful, he said yesterday, although it almost resulted in tragedy for several tourists who came near wrecking their automobiles while looking at the sign.

"The thumb was a great help," he declared, "and I heartily recommend it to other hitchhikers."

He said he got his idea from the "No Ride" signs on many trucks and automobiles.

Cato's trip to the coast was in vain, however. He traveled all the way to Los Angeles to see his brother who was to arrive from Hawaii on a troop ship. The brother came to New York instead, and Cato had to "thumb" his way back to Atlanta to see him here.

HOLLOWAY'S PLEA COMES UP TODAY

Etheridge Will Rule on Habeas Corpus Proceedings in Slaying.

Hearing on habeas corpus proceedings to free T. J. Holloway, being held in Fulton tower without bond on a murder charge, is scheduled for noon today before Fulton Superior Judge Paul S. Etheridge.

Holloway, of 9 Gertrude place, a railroad detective, was arrested following the fatal shooting Saturday night of James P. Tarleton, 29-year-old street car conductor, and the wounding of Homer Kerr, 23, of 534 St. Paul avenue, Carey Park.

Tarleton was killed by a bullet which traveled through the stomach of Kerr, police said. Attorney John H. Hudson, former assistant solicitor general, filed the habeas corpus petition.

Kerr's condition was described as "some better" by attaches at Grady hospital yesterday and he was given an even chance to recover.

Funeral services for Tarleton were held yesterday afternoon at Andrew's chapel, Newnan, Ga., conducted by the Rev. Tom Shackelford and the Rev. W. F. Hendley. Burial was in the churchyard. He is survived by a wife and seven children.

Going On Today

Georgia Cotton Manufacturers' Association will meet at 1 p. m. in the Henry Grady hotel.

Baby Health Center will be held at 1:30 p. m. at Whiteford school.

Exchange Club will meet at 12:15 p. m. in the Ansley hotel. O. B. Keeler, president, will discuss the Louisville-Schelling fight.

Kivans Club house committee will meet at 12:30 p. m. in the Ansley hotel.

Petroleum Group Atlanta Association of Credit Men will meet at 12:15 p. m. in the Ansley hotel.

Civitas Club will meet at 1:30 p. m. at the Atlanta Athletic Club. Ralph McGill, executive editor of The Constitution, will speak on the "Austrian Invasion."

Atlanta Manufacturing Distributors' Association will meet at 12 noon in the Ansley hotel.

Optimist Club will meet at 12:15 p. m. in the Henry Grady hotel.

NIGHT.

Atlanta Rabbit Breeders' Club will meet at 8 p. m. in the Fulton county courthouse.

Public Speaker's Club of the Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression will meet at 8 p. m. in room 204 Wesley Memorial building.

Boys' High School class of 1888 will meet at dinner at 8 p. m. in the Ansley hotel.

Lakewood Club will meet at 8 p. m. in the Robert Fulton hotel.

Pi Delta Kappa fraternity will meet at 8 p. m. at the meeting of the Inter-City Civic Club in the Hapeville City auditorium.

Here is the way Raymond Cato, of 442 Hammond street, looked last March 11 when he left Atlanta on a hitchhiking trip to Los Angeles. The overcoat seems out of place now, but it wasn't on March 11. Cato, who was back in Atlanta yesterday, made use of his artificial thumb throughout the trip. It was a source of much curiosity to motorists.

Candidates Hitting Final Sretch In Hotly Contested Oompah Race

The Old Colonel Gets Around and Hears Promises and Exhortations of Six Candidates, Just About the Newspaper 'Beat' of History.

In a series of secret maneuvers last night six candidates in the race for Oompah of Constitution comic characters, which will be settled by voting next Monday, July 4, attempted to outwit each other and rival aspirants in a most unusual way. By a very, very, oh, very—strange coincidence your correspondent, Colonel Whoopon Blast, was present in six different localities at the same time and obtained the full story for Constitution readers. It is pretty much by way of being the newspaper "beat" of history. Sound off, Colonel!

By COLONEL WHOOPON BLAST, Political Commentator Extraordinaire.

Friends, there are secrets to every trade, and any one thinks that your correspondent is going to tell how he managed to be in six different places at one time—laboring wall-eyed and with bated breath to give his public the latest developments in this hot battle for Oompah—he is unfamiliar with the way Colonel Whoopon Blast works. See all—tell all—explain nothing, that's the Colonel's way.

What happened was this: Dick Tracy, Moon Mullins, Orphan Annie, Tarzan, Andy Gump and Jane Arden all tried to steal a march on each other by going out of town to hold separate, secret rallies among their supporters in cities and towns where interest in the Oompah contest is raging like a grass fire in the Australian sheep country. They thought they'd get ahead of your correspondent, but just look at this! Here's the full report:

TARZAN URGES PEACE PLAN

GENEVA, Ga., June 27.—Tarzan of the Jungle, in a surprise appearance tonight here in this city whose name instantly brings to mind the movement for world peace and brotherhood, furthered his campaign for Oompah by announcing a new organization he would urge Mussolini to form if Tarzan is elected Oompah.

"It will be called the I. O. U.," declared Tarzan. "Mussolini's soldiers in Spain have shown the way. We will launch a movement to get the soldiers of all other combatant nations to join. The initials, of course, stand for International Outrunners Union. Those who run the fastest win the greatest honors. Thus will peace be assured."

GUMP ADMITS VICTORY

HAMILTON, Ga., June 27.—Andy Gump, swooping down out of the night, held an impromptu rally at Cason Callaway's Blue Spring development in furtherance of his race for Oompah.

"Give me your votes next Monday, July 4," urged Andy, amid applause. "And I'll guarantee you'll all be outfitted with the famous Gump ten-cent nickel—buys everything, worth nothing—by the following Saturday night. I repeat, 'Jump the slump with Gump!' You may tell that Whoopon Blast, if he comes poking around, that Gump's as good as elected."

JANE SEEKS SELECT VOTE

MONTICELLO, Ga., June 27.—Jane Arden, her interest in the public welfare demonstrated by a visit to the famed Jasper county federal settlement project, furthered her candidacy for Oompah of Constitution comics tonight by a speech following the inspection tour of the project.

"I want only the discriminating voter to support me in this race," said Jane. "My interest is not in holding the great office of Oompah but in using the powers of the post for the benefit of all. If you honor me with your vote I will do my best to improve conditions. Furthermore, I guarantee to keep Whoopon Blast off the comic pages."

MOON EXTOLS FRIENDSHIP

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., June 27.—Standing at the Friendship monument, the only one of its kind in the world, Moon Mullins surprised everyone tonight by speaking warmly for those qualities which the monument celebrates.

"Friendship," Moon declared, "is one of the finest attributes of the human race. I have learned to value it in this Oompah contest as a pearl without price. I only wish my brother, Kayo, didn't carry it quite so far."

ANNIE PRAISES CRAWFORD

CRAWFORD, Ga., June 27.—A tribute to William Harris Crawford, the great Georgia statesman-ambassador of whom Napoleon said: "I always feel like taking off my hat in his presence," was paid here at his home tonight by Orphan Annie in a surprise Oompah campaign rally.

"If elected Oompah," announced Annie, fervently, "I cannot hope to do better than take this great man's imperishable memory as my example. No finer American ever lived—and few were his equal."

TRACY PROMISES MORE ROADS

HELEN, Ga., June 27.—Emphasizing the value of good roads and bridges, Dick Tracy, in behalf of his campaign for Oompah, tonight held an audience at the new bridge spellbound with his pleas for the greatest possible transportation facilities.

"In my work of law enforcement," said Tracy, "I have found that nothing possesses greater value than quick transportation. It is a positive influence for good. If I am elected Oompah I shall continue to work, as always, for improved travel facilities."

Election Day is next Monday, July 4. Ballots will be published in The Constitution on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 1, 2 and 3. Vote for your favorite Constitution comic character for Oompah!

U.S. SECURITY BOARD EXAMS ARE ASKED

Requirements Include Certain Experience in Social Welfare.

An open competitive examination for the position of regional director in regions five and seven of the Social Security Board was announced yesterday by O. E. Meyers, manager fifth civil service district, United States Civil Service. This is the first time an examination of this kind has been held. Salary is $6,500 a year.

Requirements include certain experience in the field of social welfare, industrial relations or labor legislation, including administrative experience comparable in importance with that of regional director. Applicants must not have passed their sixtieth birthday. Veterans are granted preference, are exempt from age requirements up to the age of retirement, Mr. Meyers said.

Other examinations will be conducted for the positions of assistant home economist, $2,600 per year; junior home economist, $2,000 a year; junior in home economist information, $2,000 per year; Bureau of Home Economics, Department of Agriculture; Junior aquatic biologist, $2,000; Bureau of Fisheries, Department of Commerce; chemical engineer, explosives manufacture and plant management, $3,800; Navy Department, and various grades of specialists in cotton classing, $2,800 to $3,800; Bureau of Economics, Department of Agriculture.

All applications must be on file with the Civil Service Commission at Washington not later than July 25.

It also was announced that applications would be received for examinations for the position of assistant electric-rate investigator with the Federal Power Commission at a salary of $2,600 a year. All applications must be on file at Washington not later than July 11.

BRITAIN REFUSES TO AVENGE RAIDS

sever the semi-diplomatic relations with France.

Some quarters admitted that even Franco might be unable to curb the operations of his German and Italian pilots and planes—men and equipment from two countries which Chamberlain is doing his utmost to "appease."

Thus in the last analysis, Chamberlain might face the alternative of angering Premier Mussolini and Reichsfuehrer Hitler or of driving his own supporters in parliament into the opposition camp.

When angry critics in commons demanded today that British freighters be mounted with anti-aircraft guns, Chamberlain replied that "a good many difficulties" stood in the way, including the necessity of structural changes in the ships.

No Direct Answer.

Unionist Robert A. Cary, who left government ranks to join the opposition clamor, failed to get a direct answer when he asked that the government either equip the freighters for anti-aircraft defense or inform shipping companies it would not interfere with such protection.

Opposition leader Clement R. Attlee asked:

"May we gather by the prime minister's answer that it is impossible to fit anti-aircraft guns to British merchant ships now or at any time and so British merchant ships cannot be defended against aircraft in event of war?"

"That's not what I said," Chamberlain snapped. "I did not say it is impossible. I said it could not be done effectively without structural alterations."

INSURGENTS DESTROY TWO BRITISH VESSELS

VALENCIA, June 27.—(P)—Insurgent airplanes today destroyed two more British ships off the Spanish coast, killing four crewmen and wounding several civilians.

Direct hits were scored on the freighter Arlon in this port and the freighter Farnham at Alicante. Both vessels carried food cargoes, and began to settle after the bombs started fires.

The rains made a total of 59 British-registered ships attacked since the war began on July 18, 1936, and a total of 16 this month.

Five trimtorped planes raided the Arlon, 15 minutes before her scheduled departure.

The Farnham was struck an hour later by three hits amidships by six Junkers (German made) planes attacking at Alicante. Forty bombs were dropped there.

Six insurgent planes bombed the British-operated port of Gandia, 35 miles south of Valencia, where the British warship Arctura was anchored off the breakwater.

O. B. KEELER TO TELL CLUB OF LOUIS FIGHT

O. B. Keeler, Atlanta sports writer, will give his ring-side impressions of the Louis-Schelling fight at a meeting of the Exchange Club at 12:15 o'clock today at the Ansley hotel.

Well-known as a golf writer, Keeler is on the American football board, chief of the golf staff for Collier's magazine, and vice president of Newspaper Features, Inc. He was among the Atlanta sports writers who attended the Louis-Schelling fight.

VENEREAL DISEASE FUNDS.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(P)—The United States Public Health Service allocated $2,400,000 to the states today for venereal disease prevention. They included Georgia, $77,134.

The average life-span of Greeks in the days of Pericles was merely 29 years.

Year of Prosperity in Prospect For Farmers in Ben Hill County

Live-at-Home Program Is Praised by Fitzgerald Editor.

Ben Hill county farmers face a year of plenty and a fall of prosperity if crop prices are anywhere near normal, Isidor Gelders, veteran editor of the Leader Enterprise and Press, of Fitzgerald, who visited Atlanta, said yesterday.

Corn, tobacco and cotton will be major money crops with a wide diversity of others which "mean a live-at-home program in the main for planters of our county and our section of Georgia."

"I never saw better corn," he added. "That crop alone will mean much to us."

"Adoption of the triple 'A' by farmers is a fine thing. The government is paying the farmer to do what he should have been doing all along if he survives. We must have diversification if agriculture is to meet the requirements of Georgians or if it is to provide a means of subsistence."

In commenting on Fitzgerald, Editor Gelders pointed out that the city was the first in the southern states to provide free textbooks.

This was done 41 years ago. "Fitzgerald blazed that progressive trail for the rest of the south, and the wisdom of the project is now seen by the fact that even the state of Georgia has adopted it," he said.

"Fitzgerald has the only absolutely free educational system in Georgia. We charge no fees of any nature whatever."

"Our population is about 7,500 with 15,200 in Ben Hill county. The city is laid out in a perfect square and has an area of two and one-fourth miles. Its altitude is 300 feet above sea level, while the mean temperature, according to the United States Weather Bureau, is 66.4 degrees.

"Average rainfall is 46.78 inches and one may farm the year round in Ben Hill county. We own our own water and electric power system. There is a valuation of $183,000 on city district, with a tax rate of 11 mills.

"Fitzgerald and Ben Hill county are good places to live in. A new era of prosperity is awaiting us there, and we are ready to take full advantage of the opportunities which we believe will open."

C. L. WOOD BACKERS TO GATHER TONIGHT

East Point Mass Meeting To Push Candidacy.

Friends of C. L. Wood, candidate for congress from the fifth Georgia district, announced yesterday that a mass meeting of Wood supporters would be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the East Point city auditorium.

Wood supporters from Fulton, DeKalb and Rockdale counties were invited to attend the meeting. Candidates for other offices are expected to be present and make short speeches.

PARIS AND LONDON WARN JAPANESE

France's readiness to stand with Britain.

The two governments told Japan that if she persisted in a reported intention to land troops on Hainan there would result undesirable complications, and that Britain and France would act as the circumstances demanded.

The disclosure was made in the commons as dispatches from Tokyo said the British ambassador, Sir Robert L. Craigie, spent a half hour today discussing Anglo-Japanese relations with the Japanese foreign minister, General Kazushige Ugaki.

Hainan is directly opposite northern French Indo-China, and lies close to the route between Hong Kong and Singapore, far-eastern strongholds.

Chinese reported that Japanese troops tried on Sunday to land on the island but were repulsed by machine-gun fire.

Butler's disclosure to the commons answered a question from Captain Alan Graham whether the government would assure the French they will have the active assistance of his majesty's government in any measures they may consider necessary in order to restrain Japanese armed forces from endangering the security of French Indo-China by occupation of Hainan or adjacent islands."

Butler said Tokyo had been informed by the two governments that "they would regard any occupation of Hainan by the Japanese forces as calculated to give rise to undesirable complications. Should any complications unfortunately arise, his majesty's government and the French government would not doubt afford each other such support as appears warranted by the circumstances."

GERMAN ADVISORS WILL LEAVE TODAY

HANKOW, China, June 27.—(P)—Twenty-seven German military advisors who helped Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek build a modern army are prepared to depart China tomorrow, unless new orders are received from Berlin.

The Germans are credited with much of the strategy by which Chinese checked the Japanese army last spring, during the battles for Taierchwang, and Chiang was reluctant to have them go.

It was possible he might at the last minute refuse them permission to leave, but Chinese officials generally thought this unlikely.

The German ambassador, Oskar Trautmann, planned to leave Hankow by air Tuesday, while the German mission booked passage on the international train.

WAR ON CHINA IS BOGGING DOWN

SHANGHAI, June 27.—(P)—Japan's war on China showed signs tonight of bogging down on all fronts.

The most active front was the Yangtze river valley, about 200 miles by river from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's provisional capital.

The contest on this front, with Chinese troops, short batteries and planes stubbornly opposing the

It's All in Fun Now—But 75 Years Ago...

Constitution Staff Photo—Reton.

It was far different 75 years ago, but yesterday everything was all in fun as a veteran in Gray and a veteran in Blue "squared off" in a downtown hotel. W. J. Bush, left, a Confederate veteran, and Henry Brunner, of the Blue forces, both of Fitzgerald, Ga., were in a playful mood as they met here en route to the Gettysburg celebration together.

Neighbor Yankee and Confederate En Route to Blue-Gray Reunion

Two white-haired veterans of the War Between the States, who fought opposite each other at Gettysburg, linked arms in friendship here last night and prepared to entrain northward today for celebration of the 75th anniversary of the historic Pennsylvania engagement.

They were William Jordan Bush, 92, and Henry Brunner, 96, who for 43 years have called each other "neighbors" in the little southwest Georgia town of Fitzgerald.

Both were "teen-age" youths when they enlisted in the war—Bush in Company B of the 14th Georgia Infantry and Brunner in Company F of the 18th Ohio volunteer infantry. The latter, at expiration of his first four-month service, re-enlisted with Company M of the first West Virginia cavalry.

Although only a few hundred yards separated them at various times during the conflict, Bush and Brunner did not meet until the latter moved to the site of Fitzgerald in 1895 with a colony of Union veterans. Today they are the only surviving veterans of either side living in Fitzgerald.

GROUP IS NAMED TO AID IN CENSUS

Board Will Advise on Specifications.

A group of prominent Atlantans will serve as a board to assist a three-man central board advise the Bureau of the Census on definitions and specifications for metropolitan districts and industrial areas. The work is in preparation for the census of 1940.

Members of the Atlanta board are Jackson Dick, vice president, Georgia Power Company; Maurice Roy Brewster, manager of the census tract project of Emory University; George C. Biggers, business manager, the Atlanta Journal; Zode Smith, superintendent, Atlanta water works; Raymond S. Torres, engineer, city planning commission; W. J. Hogan, president, Atlanta Real Estate Board; L. L. Austin, secretary, Atlanta Retail Merchants' Association; J. Members of the central board are Paul T. Cherington, New York city; Ralph J. Watkins, Pittsburgh, Pa.; and T. W. Howard, department of manufacturing, United States Chamber of Commerce, Washington, D. C.

NORTH DAKOTA HOLDS G. O. P. POLL TODAY

BISMARCK, N. D., June 27.—(AP)—Overshadowing national issues, Senator Gerald P. Nye and Governor William Langer carry their five-year personal quarrel to the voters in tomorrow's North Dakota state primary election, both seeking the Republican nomination for United States senator.

Nye has the backing of a Progressive Republican slate while Nonpartisan League Republicans endorsed Langer.

NEGRO WOMAN KILLED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Jennie Lop Richardson, a 27-year-old negro woman, was killed and her husband, Perry Richardson, suffered a broken leg as they were hit by an automobile early yesterday at the intersection of Beverly road and Polo drive.

Radio Patrolmen R. E. Finley and D. Fuller said the car was driven by Norman L. Church, of Salisbury, N. C. Church was arrested on charges of accident, drunk and reckless driving and is being held under a $3,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning in recorder's court.

It was Atlanta's second traffic fatality of the month and the twenty-eighth this year.

Tooting Forbidden At Drive-In Place

Charges that "loud and disturbing noises" from a Peachtree street drive-in eating establishment interfered with sleep and rest of occupants of a near-by apartment house were scheduled yesterday for a superior court hearing in July.

Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy issued an order restraining Mac Firestone, as operator of the Snow White Inn, at 834 Peachtree street, from allowing singing, blowing of horns or furnishing phonographic music for patrons after 10 o'clock at night pending the hearing. He made the case returnable for July 1. Petition for injunction was filed by the Carco Corporation, owners of an apartment house at Sixth and Peachtree streets.

form of a petition for separation and it was not immediately evident whether it had been instituted on behalf of the Countess or her husband.

The Count was reported still in Paris, where he has been in conference with Franklin L. Hulton, his wife's father. It was understood that Bunch Jensen, the count's attorney, was en route there to join them.

Meanwhile there were indications that the Count was planning to go to London in an effort to effect the withdrawal of a restraining order obtained against him by his wife after a visit to the Bow street police station.

There she is said to have obtained a warrant, after making a sworn complaint, which is understood to call for the Count's appearance. The order would prohibit him from interfering with their son's custody.

Jensen was quoted as saying the Count is anxious to have the British arrest warrant repealed and that investigations were under way to determine whether it was due neglect or him to submit to arrest in order to get the question untangled.

Countess Barbara's first marital venture crashed when she divorced Prince Mdivani in Reno in 1935. It was reported the Prince was given a settlement of $1,000,000 at that time. She married the Count one day later. He is 17 years her senior.

LIQUOR CASES LEAD IN U. S. TRUE BILLS

Nineteen true bills, the majority being indictments for illicit liquor, were returned yesterday by the March grand jury in the United States district court.

Hearing in the case against the bankrupt investment firm of Rossignol & Crocy on charges of violating the securities and exchange laws was continued until today.

More than 18 witnesses are listed to appear against the defendants, Joseph R. Rossignol and A. Joseph Crocy, who were arrested for alleged fraudulent use of the mails in the sale of stock.

True bills were returned in the following indictments:

Albert Popham, Cherokee county, mailing an obscene letter; Mozell Jackson, Rockdale county, violating internal revenue laws; Emanuel Brown, Haralson county, internal revenue violation; John Henry Hardin, Frank Milbank, Jesse R. Miller, Cherokee county, conspiracy to violate the internal revenue act; John Henry Hardin, Joe Hardin and A. Miller, alias Gus Miller, Cherokee county, conspiracy and violation of the internal revenue act; Alfred Carraker, alias "Yank" Carraker, and Will Davis, Troup county, internal revenue act violation; John C. VETERAN WILL RIDE WHERE HE SWAM

A. C. Sanders' Crossing of Potomac Will Be Far Different This Time.

A grizzled veteran of the Confederate army who four times swam or waded across the Potomac river in engagements with Union forces in northern Virginia and Maryland, will again cross that historic stretch of water, but this time with the security and luxury of a modern railway coach.

The veteran, A. C. Sanders, 90-year-old Calhoun county farmer, paused in the city this week end with Mrs. Sanders en route to the Gettysburg reunion. They visited their daughter, Mrs. W. L. Culbertson, 825 Gaston street, S. W., and their six grandchildren, Mrs. D. C. Lewis, Mrs. R. C. Moore, Miss Ruby Sanders and C. J. Bass, all of Atlanta; Mrs. L. L. Boon, East Point, and Mrs. M. K. Ballard, of Decatur.

Sanders volunteered at the age of 18 in the Calhoun Riflemen, Company D, Doles Brigade, Twelfth Georgia Regiment, and immediately was sent to Virginia, where he saw active service with the Army of Northern Virginia under General Robert E. Lee. He participated in campaigns in the valley of Virginia, between Winchester and Staunton; at Petersburg, Cedar Run, Horseshoe and Gettysburg, and was mustered out April 3, 1865.

Since that time he has spent virtually all of his time on his 300-acre farm in Calhoun county, supervising the work of raising crops.

territory to test a Blue barrier that held.

Today only 300 to 400 mustered strength to climb aboard Pullmans and ride again to meet the "Boys in Blue," this time in a friendly joint reunion that long has been the dream of many on both sides.

Hands that held muskets and sabers so firmly in 1863 clung to canes and instead of marching beside fighters they rode under the watchful eyes of younger companions—in offering free transportation to the old soldiers, the federal government stipulated each should be accompanied by an aide.

When the forces under General Lee and General Meade collided on four days from July 1-4 in 1863 the fighting was as fierce as any the world had seen and about 50,000 of the 150,000 engaged were killed, wounded or captured.

There probably will be casualties at Gettysburg this time, too, but they will be exacted by illness and age, not bullets.

Officers of the Southeastern Passenger Association announced yesterday that reservations for 314 veterans and a like number of attendants were listed in its territory, south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers and east of the Mississippi. Last-minute changes in plans may alter these figures.

In this sector, Georgia was expected to send the largest delegation of veterans, 63. Reservations listed for other states include: Florida, 48; Mississippi, 42; Alabama, 32; North Carolina, 35; South Carolina, 19; Tennessee, 31; Kentucky, 16; Virginia, 14. Arkansas is expected to send nine and Louisiana 15.

Many of the Pullmans started north yesterday, others go today.

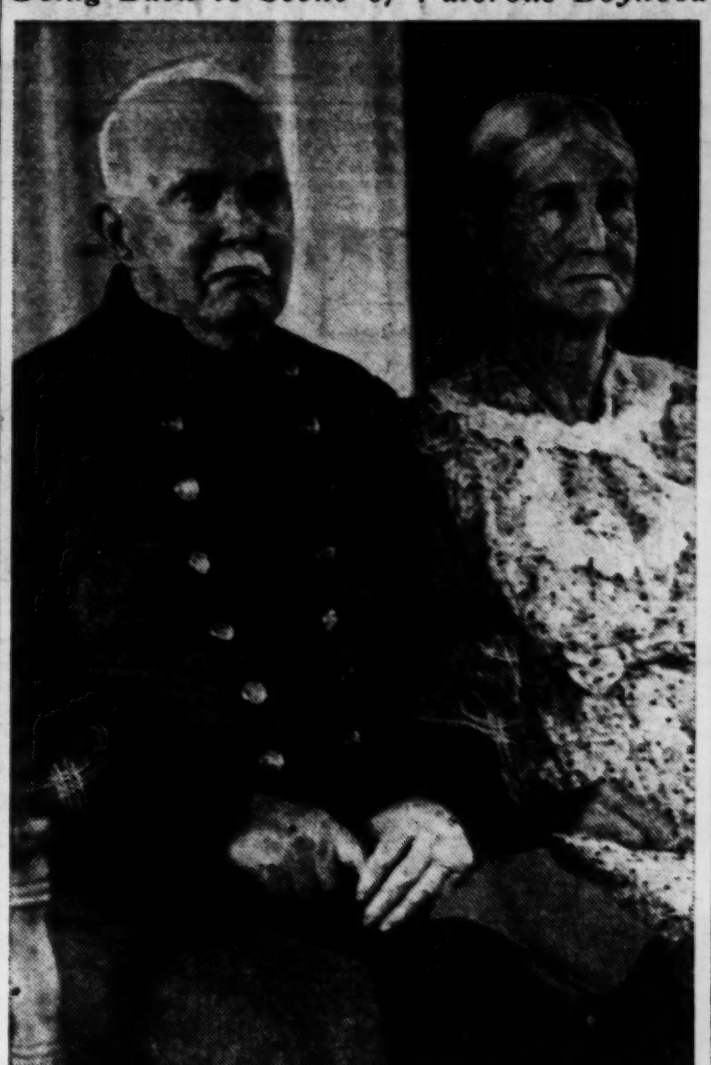

The veterans will reach Gettysburg June 29. The ceremonies will not start until July 1, giving the visitors time to rest. The reunion officially will be over July 4. But departure date has been set for July 6, again allowing time for rest before the home journey.

Two regulations set up by the government have caused worry for some of the veterans. One is that luggage may not exceed 50 pounds per person and the other is that all expenses will be paid except laundry at Gettysburg. As a result, some of the pensioners have been packing and repacking in an effort to include enough clean clothes so laundry fees may be avoided.

At Gettysburg each veteran and his attendant will be assigned to an individual tent, with a board floor and electric lights.

Sprinkled among the southern veterans—not all of whom served in Lee's army which fought at Gettysburg—will be several Union soldiers who live in the south. Florida, in particular, will send several who wear the badge of the G. A. R.

Going Back to Scene of Valorous Boyhood

Once more an old soldier returns to the scenes of his early activities. A. C. Sanders, 90-year-old farmer of Calhoun county, who saw service with the Army of Northern Virginia, and Mrs. Sanders paused here to visit their daughter and six grandchildren. They are on their way to attend the "Blue and Gray reunion" at Gettysburg next week.

make the trip. At Gettysburg the Georgia delegation will join approximately 2,000 other veterans of the War Between the States from throughout the nation.

Preparing for Trip.

For weeks now three veterans at the Soldiers' Home have been making preparations for the journey, but yesterday their excitement reached its peak. One of them planned to come down to the station early this morning so as not to miss the train.

William Jordan Bush, 93-year-old veteran from Fitzgerald, visited the Soldiers' Home yesterday and explained that he is almost as spry as the days when he fought the Yankees. He demonstrated to the other veterans just how he was going to throw "those boys over my shoulder if they start bragging about how they whipped us."

Others who will attend the Gettysburg reunion from Atlanta are John C. Dodgen, of the Sol-non roared, and the legions of Lee marched against those of Meade.

Pat Gillen, veterans' pension director for Georgia, will present a Confederate flag to Secretary of War Harry Woodring as a symbol that old wounds have been healed.

The principal part of the celebration will be held on July 1, 2 and 3. The veterans will remain in Gettysburg two days longer to rest, and then they will entrain for home.

COMMITTEE TO DRAFT FIRE MEASURES TODAY

Meeting of the special fire prevention committee will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall. City Building Inspector C. J. Bowen announced yesterday.

The committee will draft laws to eliminate fire and building hazards.

Representatives of the Southeastern Underwriters' Association, elevator experts and Dewey L. Johnson, city electrician, have been invited to attend the session.

The LOCAL SALESMAN—Thousands of men are employed by local business houses to bring their story and their service right into your office and your home.

"GETTING THE ORDER" is not All...

Perhaps you've heard it remarked that too much selling is based on friendship. But we don't think that's true. Think of the representatives of local business who call on you and we believe you'll agree that true friendliness, backed by sincere interest and thorough service, is a mighty fine basis for selling. And you'll agree, too, that Atlanta business owes much to its contact men, and the alert, constructive service they offer. We believe that one reason so many salesmen are among the thousands of Fulton customers, is that they, in turn, appreciate friendly, interested banking service.

GOVERNOR PLEDGED PWA CO-OPERATION IN OBTAINING FUNDS

Regional Director Will Assign Attorney and Engineer To Aid Program.

Pledging Governor Rivers his full co-operation in the state development program, Colonel Howard T. Cole, regional director for the Public Works Administration, informed the Governor yesterday that he will assign an attorney and an engineer to the state to assist in perfecting Georgia's applications for federal funds.

Governor Rivers and Colonel Cole conferred at length yesterday on the state's $50,000,000 program, part of which will get under way shortly.

"Colonel Cole proved himself deeply sympathetic with the needs of the state and I feel that we can work with him fine," Governor Rivers said. "He is assigning an attorney and an engineer to us to assist us in perfecting the scores of applications which must be made out and forwarded to Washington as speedily as possible."

Governor Rivers said that he expects shortly to issue to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation warrants totaling $2,240,000 on the future rentals of the Western & Atlantic railroad. The RFC has agreed to discount these rentals and the state will turn half of the proceeds over to the counties, keeping the remainder to spend on the Board of Public Welfare's building program.

"These warrants will go to Washington in a week or 10 days," the Governor said. "After they have been cashed, we will push the welfare department's building program without further delay."

EXCESSIVE RAINS HURT COTTON CROP

U. S. Says Weather Conditions in June Unfavorable for Plant.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP) The Agriculture Department said today weather conditions during the first three weeks of June "were not particularly favorable" to this year's cotton crop.

"In many areas excessive rain was said to have been excessive and cultivation retarded," a department report on the cotton situation declared.

The department's first official estimate of the 1938 cotton acreage will be released July 8. Until that time, it said, cotton prices "are being and will be influenced by trade estimates of acreage."

The report called attention to a Bureau of Entomology statement saying boll weevils were present in moderately large numbers in most of the cotton belt.

"In conjunction with this situation it is significant to note that weather conditions from late June to the end of July particularly influence the amount of damage by the boll weevil," their report said.

The department said that during the six months ended with May total fertilizer sales were 13 per cent below those of the corresponding period a year ago.

Exports of American cotton for the year ending July 31, the department continued, may fall below the 5,440,000 bales exported during the 1936-37 season.

WAR ON CIO PUSHED AT NEW ORLEANS

Police Start Rearresting Union Leaders.

NEW ORLEANS, June 27.—(AP) John Groesch, acting superintendent of police, started rearresting CIO leaders late today as the National Labor Relations Board stepped into the truckmen's dispute.

He said Bert Nelson and B. B. Jones, both of San Francisco, "agitators" who represented themselves as members of the Committee for Industrial Organization, were picked up on the street and held in secret custody.

"When I get the seven other leaders of the CIO," he said, "I'm going to run them all out of town. There is no room in New Orleans for the CIO-Communist party."

Drowsy Sarajevo Forgets Shots--- 24 Years Ago---That Started War

SARAJEVO, Yugoslavia, June 27.—(AP)—Someone placed a handful of carnations today on the obscure grave of Gavrilo Princip, the youth whose well-aimed pistol shots 24 years ago touched off the World War.

Otherwise, this semi-oriental city drowsed in the heat of a Bosnian summer and took little note that the Archduke Franz Ferdinand, of Austria-Hungary, was assassinated here by Princip on June 28, 1914.

The authorities didn't know about the carnations and didn't care. Princip was largely a forgotten man, mentioned only by a few of the more revolutionary students loitering in the coffee houses.

P. T. Barnum's Weird Collection Will Be Shown

A tiny coach will form the nucleus of the Great Century Museum soon to be built by John H. Hewlett on the Atlanta-Conyers highway, it was learned yesterday.

The coach is the vehicle which carried Tom Thumb and his midge bride on their famous wedding trip in New York during the last century, and is one of the outstanding pieces in the historic and valuable Hewlett collection.

An entire tower of the museum will be devoted to a large group of Barnumian, consisting of sea serpents, and freaks which stood in the great P. T. Barnum's famous New York museum in 1841.

The collection also includes hundreds of "mechanical pictures," originally intricate systems of clockwork. Clockwork figures representing countries of the world are also in the Hewlett collection.

There are also scores of murals, ancient Japanese spears and armor, a rare miniature boat made in 1786, a miniature machine shop, ancient handcarved sedan chairs, and rare engravings, including James Paed's "Shakespeare and His Friends."

THEFTS CHARGED TO POSTAL CLERK

Suspect Is Employee of 19 Years' Service.

Julius C. McLeod, employed by the Post Office Department as a clerk at Valdosta, was arrested yesterday on a charge of stealing from the mails, post office inspectors announced here.

Inspector J. A. Miller reported that McLeod, who had been in the service of the department for more than 19 years, admitted the theft of approximately $1,000 from 138 letters addressed to David S. Bell, of Valdosta, Thursday and Friday of last week. He said McLeod was held on $1,000 bond by United States Commissioner W. E. Perry, and had been remanded to the Mitchell county jail at Camilla pending grand jury action.

ATLANTANS MARK 'ALL-KIWANIS NIGHT'

Members Gather at 'Lakemoore' for Part in Nation-Wide Observance.

By YOLANDE GWIN. In a nation-wide observance of "All-Kiwanis Night," Atlanta Kiwanians gathered last night at Lakemoore, the country estate of Wiley L. Moore on Roswell road. It was part of a meeting held simultaneously with 2,000 other clubs in the United States and synchronized with a schedule for a similar meeting of delegates to the annual convention of Kiwanis International in San Francisco.

"Fellowship Hour" was the principal feature. A message from International President F. Trafford Taylor, of St. Boniface, Manitoba, was read by George A. Geise, vice president of the Atlanta club. Geise presided in the absence of Robert A. Clark, the president, who is attending the convention in San Francisco.

E. E. Whitaker was chairman of the entertainment program which included stunts. Robert R. Patillo served as chairman for interclub relations committee.

The clubhouse, built on the lakeside at the Moore estate, was the scene of the program as well as for the barbecue. Dancing followed. In addition to members and wives, new members attending were Charles H. Carroll, Paul A. Clark, Marvin McDonald and George C. Biggers.

There will be no meeting of the Kiwanis Club today.

M'CORMICK SEARCH IS AT STALEMATE

Sandia Peak Fails To Give Clue to Missing Heir.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 27.—(AP)—Search for missing Medill McCormick reached an apparent stalemate today with a complete absence of clues to his fate on storm-battered Sandia peak.

Half of a contingent of 120 CCC enrollees were withdrawn tonight from the search for the 21-year-old publishing heir, and all but two or three of a dozen veteran mountain climbers prepared to return to their homes.

As impenetrable as the black clouds shrouding the mountain summit during the day was the mystery surrounding the youth's whereabouts. The rocky cliffs which Friday yielded up the body of 20-year-old Richard Whitmer, McCormick's mountain climbing companion, disclosed nothing of Medill's fate.

JEWS IN PALESTINE STRIKE FOR YOUTH

Towns Protest Military Death Sentence.

JERUSALEM, June 27.—(AP)—Nearly every Jewish community in Palestine "struck" tonight against the scheduled hanging tomorrow of a Jewish youth condemned to death under emergency military regulations.

Shops and cinemas were closed in Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and elsewhere. A huge crowd sat down in front of the Tel Aviv municipal hall demanding an audience with the mayor.

Sermons were preached in many synagogues urging clemency for the youth, Benjamin Joseph, 18, convicted by a military tribunal of ambushing an Arab bus last April.

MERRY-GO-ROUND LOVE OF RYAN TOLD IN COURT

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Cottole reserved decision today on Mrs. Martha Barkley Ryan's plea for annual alimony of $15,000 and another $15,000 to pay her lawyer.

She made her demands during a hearing on her separation suit against Basil A. (Pat) Ryan, traction heir.

The 22-year-old Morganton (N. C.) girl set the value on her brief romance with Ryan, which she described as "like a merry-go-round," as married him last November 4 in Morganton after a courtship of a few hours and was deserted by him the next day, she testified.

WILLIAM P. WILLIS JR. ENTERS ANNAPOLIS

William Paul Willis Jr., of 653 Willard avenue, S. W., has been admitted to the Naval Academy at Annapolis from the Georgia Tech R. O. T. C., it was announced yesterday.

The Atlanta boy was one of 17 who passed a competitive examination given for students in honor schools or colleges having an R. O. T. C. A total of 53 took the examination. He was nominated for the Naval Academy appointment by Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, and Captain Reed M. Fawell, commandant of the R. O. T. C. Other schools in the honor group are Harvard, Northwestern University, University of California and the University of Washington.

IRVINGTON, N. Y., June 27.—(AP)—William D. Cunningham, attorney for Rollo K. Blanchard, wealthy water meter manufacturer, who left his mansion here a week ago when Mrs. Hedi Heusser descended upon it, tonight described her as a "guest" at the Blanchard home.

Mrs. Heusser, 28-year-old mother of four children, continued to occupy the home and reiterated that she would not leave until Blanchard married her.

She charges that Blanchard promised to marry her. Cunningham said Blanchard, his two children and the estate servants

CASH MAY OPPOSE LIFE FOR M'CALL

Father of Slain Child To Confer With State Attorney.

PRINCETON, Fla., June 27.—(AP)—James Bailey Cash Sr., said today he may appear before the state pardon board to oppose commutation of the death sentence against Franklin Pierce McCall for the kidnap-slaying of his little son, Jimmy.

"I don't see how the pardon board would dare commute the sentence to life imprisonment," said Cash, adding he thought most everyone in the south end of Dade county would go with him to Tallahassee if he thought it would do any good.

He planned to confer with State Attorney George A. Worley regarding the advisability of appearing before the board.

Cash paid $10,000 ransom for his child only to learn later that Jimmy was dead.

SENATOR TO OFFER NEW FARM PLANS

Program Would Allow Farmer To Plant, Market All He Pleased.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—Senator Lee, Democrat, Oklahoma, said today a new farm program that would allow a farmer to plant and market all he pleased would be offered at the next session of congress.

The Oklahoma said he was trying, at the request of many senators, to combine features of his domestic allotment proposal and a program sponsored by Senator McCord, Democrat, California.

These proposals had much support in the senate during debate on the present crop control program, and it is known that Vice President Garner has displayed a lively interest in Lee's suggestion.

"The solution of the farm problem will never be reached until we separate the home and foreign markets," Lee said, adding that both his and McCord's programs were based on such separation.

Here is how these programs would operate for cotton, as an example:

Under the Lee program every farmer would be assigned a share of the cotton needed in this country. The government then would pay him a premium or bounty on this allotment, based on the difference between market prices and a "parity" or "fair exchange" price. The farmer could grow and market all he pleased but would receive the bounty only on his domestic allotment.

some industries from wage and hour regulation, and provides payment of time and a half for overtime except in seasonal industries, where the work week may run to 56 hours.

The estimate of 200,000 persons to be affected by the minimum wage provisions was made by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. When the minimum rate climbs to 30 cents an hour about 400,000 will be affected, the bureau added.

Number experts said they had no accurate information about the number of persons whose work week might be shortened by the act, but estimated that last August 1,200,000 persons in manufacturing industries were working longer than 44 hours a week.

Rooster Copped, Cooped---Cooked?

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 27.—A little red rooster became a jailbird today.

The rooster was placed in a cell with a man charged with public drunkenness. The man was carrying the fowl when police arrested him.

No "charge" was placed against the fowl, police explained. He was locked up with the man merely to keep him from getting hurt in downtown traffic where the arrest was made.

Kidnaper's Letter to Evangelist Wins $5 Photo Tip Prize for Week

Message From Franklin McCall, Convicted Abductor of Jimmy Cash, to Rev. Tillman, Adjudged Best News Story Suggestion.

A letter to an Atlanta evangelist from Franklin P. McCall, convicted kidnaper of little Jimmy Cash, was adjudged the best Photo Tip last week.

McCall, in a letter to the Rev. Charles D. Tillman, wrote in a penitient mood, saying, in part: "I have prayed for forgiveness for sin, and now have peace in my heart and am not afraid to die."

The story of the letter, and photographs of it and Mr. Tillman, were judged on the basis of universality of appeal, and human interest.

The Photo Tipster who gained the top prize of $5 was Mrs. Polly Vaughn Ewing.

Several other Photo Tips won awards of $1 each.

Mrs. L. D. Randall, of 844 Piedmont avenue, won $1 for her Photo Tip about a linen sampler made in 1826 by her great-grandmother, in Denmark.

Another dollar winner was George J. Wood, of 433 Capitol avenue, for his Photo Tip about the bet of Jefferson Head, of 1101 Capitol avenue. Head bet on Max Schelling, and paid off his wager by pushing a golf ball with his chin a half mile on the College Park course.

Miss Allene Rutledge, of the Doctor's building, also won a dollar. Her Photo Tip was about the unusual hat of Miss Jane Grant, of 888 Moreland avenue. The hat was made from a phonograph record.

The Photo Tip about Howard Strickler, of 57 Woodcrest avenue, who was locked an hour in his place of employment, won a prize for another Atlanta who requested his name not be used.

Savant Says Entire Populations Turning to Fantasies of Childhood

OTTAWA, Ontario, June 27.—Entire populations totaling millions of people throughout the world are turning from mental reality into the realm of childhood fantasy to forget wars and threats of wars, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told at its opening session today.

Addressing the association's symposium on "Science and the Future," Dr. Stuart Rice, of the United States Central Statistical Board, declared that in books, magazines, motion pictures and other amusements people are reverting to the dream world of childhood to escape the dread of thinking.

"With a certain attitude of desperation the world is sacrificing its hopes of higher living standards on behalf of lowering non-productive armaments," he declared. The recent popularity of Walt Disney's "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" and James Hilton's "Lost Horizon" illustrate this tendency," Dr. Rice pointed out.

The world today is faced with two types of hazards, the American economist said, "first, a catastrophic breakdown in its social organization; and, second, a slow disintegration and decay of the same social organization."

Both, he added, must be attacked quickly.

ROUSTABOUTS PACK CIRCUS ON TRAINS

Union Leader Give 'Go' Signal To Men.

SCRANTON, Pa., June 27.—(AP)—Slashing in a heavy rain, roustabouts packed the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus aboard its trains tonight for retirement to winter quarters—its 1938 summer tour ended by a strike.

"Go ahead and tear up," Ralph Whitehead, executive secretary of the American Federation of Actors, told the laborers after waiting for nearly two days for the canvas to dry.

The circus' 1,600 employees went on strike last Wednesday, refusing to take a 25 per cent cut in their pay fixed by a contract a year ago.

Saturday night an agreement was signed with the union under which the union agreed to furnish the labor needed to move the circus back to Sarasota, Fla. The packing started Sunday, but was interrupted by rain.

F. C. WARD NAMED AAA FIELD DIRECTOR

To Strive for Smooth Control System; H. S. Durden Chosen Successor.

ATHENS, Ga., June 27.—(AP)—Frank C. Ward, for three years the administrative officer in Georgia for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, today became a field officer.

His assignment will be to assist county agents, and "keep things running as smoothly as possible" as Georgia enters the first season of selling tobacco and cotton under the marketing quota system.

Ivy W. Duggan, southern division director for the AAA, announced Homer S. Durden, of Swainsboro, would take over Ward's duties as administrative officer.

Both appointments will be effective Friday. Ward will continue to make Athens his headquarters, as will Durden.

Ward, a native of Stewart county, served as agronomist for the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service and later as agricultural agent for Meriwether county, before joining the AAA staff in 1935. He was graduated from the University of Georgia College of Agriculture in 1915.

Durden, an Emanuel county cotton and tobacco farmer, joined the AAA Washington staff in 1933, after serving on the blue-cured tobacco committee as the representative of Georgia tobacco growers. He also attended the University of Georgia.

CURTAIN TO RING UP ON 'OUTWARD BOUND'

"Outward Bound," the second play of the Atlanta University Summer Theater season, will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight in Howe Memorial Hall.

Based on the theme of the flight of the soul after death, the play caused a sensation when it was produced on Broadway in 1924.

Anne M. Cooke will direct the local production. John M. Ross designed the stage sets.

The play will be presented again on Thursday and Saturday nights.

Debutantes of 1937-38 Remember Ida Akers With Bon Voyage Gift

By Sally Forth.

JUST before Ida Akers boarded a train last Saturday for New York, from where she sails tomorrow for Europe, she was surprised with a handsome silver compote presented her by members of the past season's Debutante Club. In appreciation of her leadership as president of the club, Ida's sister debbies chose to bid her bon voyage in this manner. Accompanying the gift was a letter expressing the members' gratitude to Ida for guiding the club through its successful social season.

When Ida read the inscription engraved in the center of the exquisite piece of silver, her sparkling brown eyes moistened with tears of joy. Never in the history of Atlanta's social life has the president of the Debutante Club been more beloved and appreciated. For one as young in years as this only daughter of the William Akers, Ida showed marked executive ability as she steered the 1937-38 debutante coterie through one of the most brilliant seasons recorded in the city's social history. It is a well deserved vacation that Ida will enjoy this summer on foreign shores. She sails tomorrow aboard the steamer New York, with a group of close friends, among whom will be Julia Hoyt, the Fred Hoyt's daughter, who was also numbered among Atlanta debutantes of the past season.

E. Boho Murray, of Macon, world-wide traveler, will direct the group's travel, which calls for visits to principal cities and resorts in Europe. Before sailing on the return voyage the travelers will go to England for a two weeks' stay.

Incidentally, Ida's brother, Billy, and his close friend, Bobby Troutman, will also be passengers on the steamer New York when she lifts anchor tomorrow and heads toward the Atlantic. Billy and Bobby leave the ship at Southampton. From that port the Atlanta boys will begin their trek through England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

Fritz Van Winkle, the three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Van Winkle, recently had his tonsils removed at Eggleston Memorial hospital. His doctor had assured him that the operation would not hurt and Fritz had promised everyone he would not cry. However, when the time came, small Fritz let out blood-curdling shrieks.

After he had improved sufficiently to be removed to his home, the doctor called to see how his patient was progressing. "Fritz, why did you cry?" he asked. "You promised not to, and you know it didn't hurt." Fritz hesitated a moment before replying. "Well," he finally admitted, "I just didn't like being put on that ironing board."

JANE SHIPP, who visited Ethel Erwin at the time of her debut party last winter, is returning the honors, and Ethel left yesterday for a two weeks' visit in America as her guest. Jane and Ethel have visited each other frequently since the days when they attended Washington Seminary together, and Jane is planning another sojourn in Atlanta with Ethel later in the summer.

Ethel will go to Daytona Beach on July 15 to visit another former Seminary classmate, Lucy Davis, of Camilla, at her cottage there.

Miss Toombs, Fiance Are Honor Guests

Miss Gene Witherspoon entertained yesterday at a bridge party at her home on Fifteenth street, honoring Miss Virginia Toombs, whose marriage to Dr. James Groves, of Savannah, will be solemnized on Wednesday.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother and sister, Mrs. L. A. Witherspoon, and Miss Mary Frances Witherspoon. Sixteen guests, including Miss Toombs' bridesmaids and a few close friends, were present.

On Sunday evening Miss Toombs and Dr. Groves were honor guests at the buffet supper given by Miss Frances Norman at her home on Rumson road.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norman, and Mrs. James T. Burns, Mrs. Rembert Sims and Mrs. Jud Roberts. Guests included Misses Evelyn Burns, Helen Miller, Martha Carmichael, Mary Fortson, Mary Frances Witherspoon, Gene Witherspoon, Jane Edmondson, of Washington, D. C.; Frances Reardon, of Washington, D. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Garnett Austin, of Chattanooga, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Butler Toombs and Tom West, Dr. Ed McDonald, Charlie Walcott, Jack

Miss Mary Collier And Mr. Evans Feted At Alfresco Party

Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Williams entertained on Sunday evening at their home on Garmon road at a delightful alfresco party and supper honoring Miss Mary Collier and John S. Evans, whose marriage will be an important social event of today.

The guests enjoyed swimming, tennis and badminton, following which supper was cooked at a grill in the garden. Guests were seated at three small tables, each of which was centered by a bowl of gardenias. The table appointments were of glass and pottery in bright colors. The places of the bride and groom were marked by figures of a bride and groom holding vases filled with flowers.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier, Mrs. H. G. Evans, of Montgomery and Highlands, N. C., mother of the bridegroom-elect, and her guest, Mrs. Harry Ketner; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wardle, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Church, of Salisbury, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Evans, of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. James Simpson, Dr. and Mrs. Muri Hagood, of Marietta; Misses Henrietta Collier, Florrie Sisson, Lilla Farrell, Elizabeth Strickland, Joyce Smith, Helen Lawrence, of Marietta; Elizabeth Alexander, May O'Brien, Jack Boykin, Carl and Joe Bear, of Montgomery; Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Tate, Marietta; Vonneau Murray, Montgomery; Dick Smith, Phil McDuffie Jr., James Franklin, Jack Adair, Ronnie Brooks, Joe High Williams, T. T. Williams Jr. and David Jones.

Mrs. G. M. Stout entertained 16 guests at luncheon yesterday at her home on Peachtree street honoring Miss Collier. Pastel garden flowers were used in the reception room and the beautifully appointed luncheon table had for its central decoration a silver bowl of garden flowers.

So you're really getting away from it all! Well, do it up this time in the grand manner... let yourself go... just once anyway. Your favorite little nooks at Rich's are simply bursting with doo-dads... fashion spice, you know... things to give you that wonderful little tingle down the back of your spine that means... "I'm free... off without a care in the world... off to fun... oceans and oceans of FUN!"

FIRST of all—see those simply unbelievable travel bags. Rolfs' "La Gardes" they are—all great huge passport affairs that hold everything except the man. Secret compartments, key-rings, deep zipper pockets... and they're leather lined... the kind you dream about! Priced from 5.00 to 25.00. And REAL cultured pearls, angle—just across the way for a mere whisper of a 9.98 price... looking like a Countess' own, too... so exquisitely matched.

That smooth black and silver lipstick sketched up above is truly the present wonder. French, of course—"Le rouge baiser"... and surprise, it's black as jet but turns a luscious glowing red on your lips! Indelible, too! For just 5.00... perfection!

You'll need a perfume, too. What can wake you into aliveness after a lazy day more than that tiny touch of wonderful fragrance? Well, here's the news—Guerlain has just this minute rushed into Atlanta the grand sensation—"Coque D'Or"—The Golden Bow... inspired by a Russian Opera... heady it is and oh, what it can do to you! The great golden bottle is a jewel—priced at 40.00.

Of course, there'll be Time, too—but not on your hands, child—if you go armed with a little gold Hamilton watch—just a mite of a thing chosen from ever so many darling ones in Rich's new Jewelry Shop. The one above is just 40.00. So there, you're off... and fated for "a wonderful time."

Miss Mary Pape, of Mobile, Ala., Betrothed to Rev. Ferguson Wood

Centering cordial interest in Atlanta and in Mobile, Ala., is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Anderson Pape, of Mobile, and the Rev. Ferguson Wood, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of this city, which is made today by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Pape. The marriage of the popular couple will be solemnized in Mobile at a ceremony taking place on July 27.

The lovely bride-elect, who is one of the most charming members of the younger set in Mobile, is of a beautiful blonde type with blue eyes. She attended Girls' Preparatory school and Murphy

High school in that city and was outstanding in athletics and scholarship at both institutions. She will be accorded a sincere welcome in Atlanta when she comes here as the popular minister's bride.

The Rev. Wood is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wayne Wood, of St. Louis, Mo. Following the death of his parents in his early youth he made his home with his uncle, the Rev. Dr. James Fowle, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Chattanooga. He attended McCallie school in Chattanooga and was graduated from Davidson College in Davidson, N. C., in 1931, and from Union Seminary in Richmond, Va., in 1934. He came to Atlanta on May 1 from Mobile, where he was associate pastor of the Government Street Presbyterian church, and he has already become popular in religious, civic and social circles of this city.

LEADS REVIVAL. LAGRANGE, Ga., June 27.—The Rev. W. C. Henson, of Troy, Ala., is directing a series of revival meetings in the Second Baptist church here. He is being assisted by the Rev. J. B. Rice, pastor.

More Parties Planned To Attend Pi Beta Phi Convention For Miss Kessler And Harry Precht Jr.

Miss Marjorie Kessler, popular bride-elect, and her fiancé, Harry J. Precht Jr., whose marriage takes place on July 8, continue to be honored at a series of delightful social affairs prior to their wedding. Tomorrow Miss Evelyn Summer, of Monroe, gives a bridge party at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Griffin, on Muscogee avenue.

On Tuesday evening Miss Kessler and Mr. Precht will be honored at the dinner party to be given by Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Kimbly Jr., at their home on Sherwood road. The young couple will again be honored when Mrs. W. B. Spann gives a party on Thursday evening at her home on Oakdale road.

Miss Louise Cummings gives a tea on July 3 at her home on Sheridan drive for the young couple, and on July 5 Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Alexander and daughter, Miss Gertrude Mooney, give a buffet supper at their home on Pelham road for the young couple.

Mrs. John B. Duncan gives a bridge shower on Shannon drive on July 6 for Miss Kessler and in the evening of the same day Willard Harper Leathers gives a dinner party at the Capital City Country Club for the young couple. On July 7 after the wedding rehearsal Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kessler entertain at a buffet supper at their home on Amsterdam avenue for their daughter and Mr. Precht.

After the marriage of the young couple Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Adair, uncle and aunt of the bride-elect, will be hosts at a reception at their home in Brookwood Hills.

Voters of DeKalb To Meet July 15

The next meeting of the DeKalb League of Women Voters will be held on July 15 instead of July 1 since many of the members will be out of the city for the week end.

On that date a picnic will be held at 11 o'clock at the home of Mrs. G. G. Hoch, 2424 Briarcliff road, which will feature a discussion of the questionnaires that the league sends to candidates for office, and reports of the activities of the first six months of the league year.

The executive board of the DeKalb league which was entertained at a recent luncheon meeting by Mrs. O. P. Bray, authorized the president to write to the superior court judge, James C. Davis, and request that two qualified women be appointed to fill the vacancies on the jury service committee for 1938; to arrange an evening meeting at the DeKalb courthouse for candidates for the United States senate will be asked to address the voters of the county; to write the candidates for the general assembly.

bly of Georgia from DeKalb, none of whom have opposition, asking them to give informal consideration to certain public welfare legislation in which league members are interested, and to encourage a membership drive during the weeks before the July meeting on the 15th.

Officers and members of the board are as follows: Mesdames Wellington Stevenson, C. C. Smith, W. A. Ozmer, A. L. Wade, W. Paul Speir, James N. Platt, George W. Woods, O. P. Bray, G. G. Hoch, W. G. Bryant, Charles C. Rife, J. C. Johnson, Charles M. Mashburn, T. J. Deadwyler, James H. Allison and Misses Florie Walker and Florence Smith, all of DeKalb county.

Miss Marjorie Hunt Weds Carl Broyles Jr.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 27.—Miss Marjorie Hunt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Hunt, of 152 North Orange drive and Bernard Carl Broyles Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Broyles, also of Hollywood and formerly of Atlanta, Ga., were married here on June 26 at the Little Church of the Flowers. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. E. Morris, an uncle of the bride, who came here from New York city for the nuptials. All white flowers were used at the altar.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore her mother's wedding gown of ivory satin, the skirt of which was draped and held at one side with pearl ornaments. The long train was a Watteau effect. The long sleeves were of rose-point lace and held at the wrist with pearls, and the Elizabethan collar was of rose-point, and she wore a long tulle veil held to the hair with orange blossoms and carried a shower of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Miss Marsha Hunt, a sister of the bride, wore silk net fashioned in two shades, orchard and blue, and draped scarfs in the two shades hung over the shoulders. She carried Johanna Hill roses. The brother of the groom, Norman Broyles, was best man, and ushers were Jerry Hopper, Arnold Broyles, brother of the groom; Howard Way and Arthur Brintnell. A reception followed in the gold ballroom of the Beverly Wilshire hotel, in Beverly Hills to 150 guests. After a trip to the northern part of the state they will reside here.

The bride is a graduate of University of California at Los Angeles and a Kappa Alpha Theta. She also attended Horace Mann School for Girls in New York city, her former home. The groom was educated in Atlanta. Mrs. Hunt wore orchid chiffon and orchids, and Mrs. Broyles was gowned in shell pink lace and wore pink camellias. The groom is associated with Procter & Gamble on the Pacific coast.

Summer Activities Prove Popular With Girls of Camp Fire Groups

Camp Fire Girls' city summer program is proving popular with the members of the various groups of Atlanta Council and many girls are taking advantage of the interesting events that are offered each week.

The first day camp at Adams Park will be held today from 10:30 to 3:30 o'clock, meeting at the fireplace below the playground. Mrs. J. L. Gower and the Akanata group will have charge of games, and Mrs. H. G. White Jr. will direct singing. Mrs. Millard Beals, local field secretary for the Camp Fire Girls, will lead the program of activities. This day is planned especially for girls in West End, East Point, College Park and Hapeville groups, but all others interested are invited. Those wishing to do so may cook their own lunch, while others will bring a picnic lunch. There is no place for swimming but additional craft work has been planned to make the day an enjoyable one. The park may be reached by streetcar, riding the Whitehall streetcar, getting off at Peoples street and taking the bus at the drugstore. Get off at Cascade Heights and ask directions of bus driver. By automobile, go out Lee street to Campbellton road straight to the park.

The regular weekly day camp will be held at Avondale on Thursday, meeting at the swimming pool at 9:45 o'clock. Each girl should bring a picnic lunch, 10 cents for swimming, a towel and cup. Nature lore will be the theme of the day and girls having any nature exhibits are asked to bring them along. Kodak pictures of nature subjects will be especially emphasized. All games and craft work will be on this same subject.

Several original poems were read at the last day camp and girls were reminded of the poetry contest for all Camp Fire Girls, which will close on August 1. It was suggested that each girl write a nature poem for the next meeting.

A radio program telling about the city summer program and Camp Toccoa activities will be held on Friday over WSB from 3 to 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. Byron Mathews, radio chairman, will speak and will introduce several Camp Fire Girls.

Mrs. R. P. Seitzinger conducted a handcraft class yesterday at her home, 1293 Euclid avenue, N. E., at which time stuffed dolls to send to the children of Labrador were made. This was a response to an appeal made by one of the workers from the Deep Sea Fishers, who expressed a need for such gifts, as many of the children of Labrador have never seen a doll. The dolls were made of materials that will withstand the climate of the great frozen north and will be sent from Atlanta in time to leave New York by August 20, so that they can be shipped to reach Labrador before the ice season sets in and be there in time for Christmas. Mrs. Seitzinger is chairman of civic service for the Guardians' Association and is directing this project as one feature of the Needlework Guild activities.

Miss Mary Garner, Fiance Are Honored.

Miss Mary Garner, of Norcross, whose marriage to Charles Fitts, of Tate, takes place on Wednesday, continues to be honored at a series of parties preceding her marriage. This evening Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Garner will honor the bride couple at a buffet supper at their home in Norcross following the rehearsal.

Mrs. L. D. Ewing and Mrs. Robert Medlock entertained Miss Garner at a luncheon recently, covers being laid for 12. Mrs. Paul Mitchell, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. R. Finley, entertained at the home of Mrs. Finley, at a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Garner.

The bride-elect was honored at a theater party given by Misses Mattie and Elise Wull and Mrs. Carl Garner and Mrs. Minor Garner were hostesses at the home of Mrs. Carl Garner in No cross at a bridge-tee in Miss Garner's honor. Thirty-two friends of the honoree were invited.

Memorial Group To Unveil Marker

Mrs. Robert B. Blackburn, fourth vice president of the Atlanta Ladies' Memorial Association, will have charge of the program Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, near the Westminister entrance to Piedmont park, when that organization will unveil a memorial marking the outer line of Confederate defense fortifications. This memorial is in the form of a cannon mounted on a granite base on one side of which is a bronze tablet bearing the inscription, and is one of a series of markers which the Memorial Association is placing in various historical locations, thus carrying out a program of assisting the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce in its efforts to mark historic spots.

Dr. T. B. Morrison, assistant rector of St. Luke's church, will offer the invocation. Hugh G. Head will speak. The memorial will be unveiled by Miss Bonnie Waldo, great-granddaughter of the late Major William F. Slaton. Wilbur Kurtz will read the inscription, of which he is the author, and the marker will then be presented to the city of Atlanta by Mrs. Arthur McD. Wilson Jr., president of the Atlanta Ladies' Memorial Association.

Mayor Hartsfield will accept the marker on behalf of the city. Music will be offered by a male chorus under direction of Dr. Claude Battle. Taps will be sounded by Frances and Glorina Steward. The public is invited.

To Attend Meeting.

Mrs. Clara B. Cassidy, national director of the Supreme Forest, Woodmen Circle, and state manager of Georgia, Mrs. Willie Belle O'Keefe and Miss Clara O'Keefe will attend the south Georgia district convention to be held in Albany tomorrow.

Others invited are Miss Sue Methvin, president of the north Georgia district; Mrs. Jeannie Brown, of Mary E. La Rocca Grove, state auditor and vice president of north Georgia district; Mrs. Daisy Moultrie, of La Rocca Grove, state historian, and district reporter, Mrs. Helen Shearin, district financial secretary, north Georgia district team.

Rehearsal Parties Are Given In Compliment To Bride Couples

A series of delightful buffet suppers featured the social calendar last evening, the affairs marking the climax of a round of social affairs which have preceded three weddings which will be important events taking place today.

Miss Laura Kirkman and Robert Patterson, whose marriage takes place at the Decatur First Methodist church, were central figures at the alfresco buffet supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Shirley.

The party was given at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, near Dunwoody, and assembled members of the wedding party, which numbered 30. The hosts followed the wedding rehearsal at the home of the bride-elect's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Champion, in Druid Hills, where the ceremony takes place.

Garden flowers in pastel shades adorned the home and a silver bowl of dainty Bess roses and the beautifully appointed buffet table. Mrs. W. L. Allison and Mrs. Bruce Hughes assisted the hosts in entertaining the guests, who included members of the wedding party and the out-of-town guests here for today's nuptials.

The beautifully appointed table was centered with a bowl of varicolored summer flowers and the places of the guests were marked by place cards of the bridal motif.

In addition to the hostess and honor guests, covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Peter Superty, of Pittsburgh, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spalding, of New Orleans, La.; Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Embury, Mr. and Mrs. John Marlowe, Miss Mary Embury, Jack Embury, Charles Marlowe, Leslie Parrish, Kenneth Brown, Miss Mary Lee Marlowe and Miss Rose Adams.

Another popular bridal couple, Miss Venetia Harwell and Dr. Steve Renwick, were honored at the dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dennis at their home on Briarcliff road. BIG STEEL AWAITS PRICE CUT EFFECTS TO SET NEW WAGES

Other Firms Are Silent on Whether Salaries Will Be Reduced.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—United States Steel Corporation was reliably reported in steel circles today to be awaiting the effects of its recent price slash, before pursuing the matter of a wage cut.

In any event, it was explained, it would take the corporation 20 days, under its agreement with the CIO, to put a reduction into effect. The 20-day period would begin after it had issued notice to the CIO for negotiations, and notification has not yet been given.

Other steel companies were mum as to their plans, but the price cuts announced by United States Steel last Friday were understood to have been put into effect generally.

At United States Steel's offices, there was no comment on the wage matter, and some sources close to the corporation said that its officials were not yet in complete agreement on the matter.

Nevertheless, it was definitely understood that nothing would be done on wages for the moment. With a little better inquiry already reported for steel, and buyer uncertainty thought to have been considerably overcome by the new prices, steel men were hopeful that business would pick up.

They said the industry generally would operate at substantial losses, with the present wage and price schedules, without a big gain in the volume of business.

The American Iron & Steel Institute estimated this week's mill operations for the industry at 28.7 per cent of capacity, up .7 of one percentage point from last week, and comparing with 26.1 a month ago. This was small, however, compared with the 75 per cent rate of a year ago.

Attention had been focused on the wage matter since Saturday, when United States Steel issued a brief statement that none of its officials had given any assurances a wage reduction would not follow the lowered prices.

Underprivileged Children Off for Week at Camp

Constitution Staff Photo—Slayton.

Visions of swimming and boating and fishing sent a thrill through these Atlanta boys yesterday as they departed for a week's outing at Camp Rutledge as the guests of the Atlanta Optimist Club. Other groups of boys will be taken to the camp during the summer by the Optimist Club, sponsoring a program for underprivileged youngsters. With the boys are, left to right, Captain Ben Jones, Claude Grizzard and Sam Crane.

DRIVE NETS $2,125,000
TO AID JEWS OVERSEAS
Officials of the Jewish Welfare Fund of Atlanta were notified yesterday by Rabbi Jonah B. Wise, national campaign chairman of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee, that $2,125,000 has been received to date in the spring campaign for $5,100,000 to aid distressed Jews overseas.

The Joint Distributing Committee is one of the participating agencies of the national Jewish Welfare Fund, and the amount pledged by Jews in Atlanta during the campaign conducted here May 10-18 totaled $68,000, according to Edward M. Kahn, secretary of the fund. The local drive was conducted by a committee headed by Meyer Regenstein, chairman; H. A. Alexander, treasurer; Secretary Kahn, Harold Hirsch, I. M. Weinstein, Max M. Cuba and Mrs. R. M. Travis.

HARRISON IS BACKED BY STATE COMMITTEE
JACKSON, Miss., June 27.—(AP) The Mississippi Democratic executive committee recommended unanimously today the nomination of Senator Pat Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, senate finance committee chairman, for President in 1940.

There was no discussion of the resolution.

2 ATLANTANS NAMED
BY TAX ASSOCIATION
Leo Sudderth and J. Sid Tiller, members of the Atlanta Board of Tax Assessors, have been elected members of the National Association of Assessing Officers, it was announced yesterday.

The association is an organization of professional assessing officers, which was formed in 1934. J. C. Little, senior member of the tax assessors here, is also a member of the association.

In England, only three publishing houses are allowed to print copies of the Bible.

STATE N.E.A. GROUP NAMES DR. COLLINS

Georgians Win Three Committee Appointments at Meeting in N. Y.

NEW YORK, June 27.—(AP)—Georgians attending the National Education Association meeting here today elected Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools, as chairman of the state delegation.

Collins also was named for a three-year term as Georgia director.

Ralph Ramsey, of Atlanta, was named secretary.

Georgians also won three committee appointments when M. R. Little was named to the resolutions group; Miss Leila Stalling, of Brunswick, to the necrology committee; and Ramsey to the credentials committee.

Andrew Avery, now national vice president, will be renominated for that office by Dr. Collins.

Others in the Georgia delegation at the convention include Ed Cook, chairman of the Atlanta Board of Education, and Mrs. Cook; Superintendent and Mrs. Willis A. Sutton, of Atlanta; Miss Maggie Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Perry, W. J. Andrews, of Toccoa, president of the Georgia Education Association; Grady Jarrett, M. R. Little, Mr. and Mrs. John O. Something New in Forecasting Described in Verse by Mindling Invention of Mechanical Weather Observer Minimizes 'Human Equation' in Predictions of Cloudy and Warmer or Showers and Cooler.

Importance of the "human equation" in the prognostication of weather conditions will be further minimized with the installation of the middle of July of a new mechanical weather observer, George W. Mindling, government meteorologist, United States Weather Bureau, said yesterday.

The new device, known as a radiometerograph, has been accepted by the Weather Bureau as ed by the Weather Bureau as Washington and will be installed on six stations, the local official said, the nearest to Atlanta being at Nashville, Tenn. The robot observer will be able to serve this area better by its location in Tennessee, Mr. Mindling said.

A description of the mechanical observer has been prepared by Mr. Mindling in rhyme, as follows:

There is hope in improving the weather forecast
Through a striking invention that has been made at last,
Which is taking the place of the old-fashioned
To determine the state of the sky at each hour.
It has taken too long for the planes to come back
And to work up the reports for the weather bureau.
Then, whenever the weather may change to be bad,
Very little of record from them can be had.

This is much like a sentry asleep at his post
In a critical time when he's needed to do his best.
At the best the flight method is clumsy and slow,
And the height to be reached is much too high to go.
There need for reports from the weather bureau
Than we can obtain from the lumbering planes.

So we now have transmitters carried up by balloon
That are furnishing records incredibly soon.
They send radio signals from way up in the air
That can show us how damp and how cold it is there.
The weather bureau reports from the weather bureau
So the height of the outfit can always be shown.

Every fourth of a minute three signals come down
Revealing conditions in the air above town.
These signals show pressure and humidity,
The warmth of the air or its frigidity.
We receive these reports about each hundred feet
Of ascent in the air, repeat and repeat.
In a very short time, for the process is fast,
There's a survey complete for the weather forecast.

At the present time only a few are employed.
For the prices are such as we have to pay to get them.
M. I. T. and Cal Tech have been trying them out
While the Weather Bureau is doing without.
But we know of the merits these gadgets possess,
And we shall soon have them on our lists to bless.
For as soon as we buy in large numbers
That the price we shall pay will be reasonably low.

In Atlanta Hospitals

Suffering a serious injury to his right eye as the result of an experiment Sunday afternoon, Leroy Courney, 11, of 344 Whitehall street, S. W., was in Grady hospital last night in "fair" condition. The youth placed a piece of dry ice in a bottle and corked the bottle. In the explosion that followed, the flying glass cut his eye.

A two-month-old battle in hospitals for her health was won yesterday by Mrs. Guy Coleman, widow of an Atlanta councilman, who was burned critically in the Terminal hotel fire. Mrs. Coleman was dismissed from the Piedmont hospital and is at home at the Marion hotel.

creates a stall. The truck was said to have been driven by Joe Feld of Chicago. No case was made against him.

A 6-year-old girl, Betty Jean Coffey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Coffey, of 347 Venable street, N. W., was admitted to Grady hospital for treatment last night after her right thumb had been amputated by being caught in an automobile door, attaches said.

Admitted to Georgia Baptist hospital yesterday, Mrs. David J. Fant, of 1347 Beecher street, S. W., was in "good" condition last night. She is the wife of an engineer for the Southern Railway System.

PULLMAN CHARGES WILL BE BOOSTED

I. C. C. Grants 5 Per Cent Increase Following Plea for 10 Per Cent.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—(AP)—The Pullman Company obtained permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission today to raise its charges 5 per cent as soon as it posts new price schedules and gives the required 10 days' notice.

A few hours earlier, a section of the commission heard spokesmen for eastern railroads plead for higher coach fares, one argument being that the difference between coach rates and the present Pullman charges was too great. The Pullman Company had asked a 10 per cent increase. The majority opinion of the commission, while permitting an increase in all the company's charges, suggested that it consider leaving the charges for upper berths unchanged. Only one upper berth is sold to every five lower berths, the report said.

Eastern railroads presented a picture of falling revenues and rising operating expenses in asking that the coach rate of 2 cents per mile be raised to 2.5 cents.

EARLE APPEALS IN GRAFT CHARGE

Case Heads Toward State Supreme Court.

HARRISBURG, Pa., June 27.—(AP)—The long-fought move in Pennsylvania for a grand jury investigation of campaign charges headed toward the state supreme court again tonight on an appeal by Governor Earle.

He asked the reversal of a Dauphin county court decision refusing to permit Attorney General Bard to supersede District Attorney Shelley in the inquiry.

Governor Earle, one of 14 state officials and Democratic party leaders named in the charges of political graft and corruption, ordered Bard to make the appeal a few hours after Judge Schaeffer denied Bard's right to replace Shelley in charge of the investigation.

The supreme court will sit at Philadelphia Thursday.

EVERGLADES YIELD PLANE WRECKAGE

Occupant Believed To Have Escaped Injury.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 27.—(AP)—Coast guard divisional headquarters announced tonight the wreckage of a small plane which had been reported missing, was found in the Everglades.

Guardians said a message from the Miami base reported the craft had been sighted southwest of Lake Harbor, on the south shore of Lake Okechobee.

The plane's occupant apparently was not hurt, the message added.

The coast guard said Dr. M. Martin, who took off early today from Lake Placid for Miami, had been reported missing.

O. J. Espy, editor of the Summerville News and one of Chatham county's best known citizens, underwent a major operation yesterday in Georgia Baptist hospital, where he was admitted last week. His condition was said to be "fairly good" last night.

Mrs. Daniel A. Smith, of 116 Roger street, Kirkwood, has returned home after a major operation at the Georgia Baptist hospital and is "doing just fine," members of the family said last night.

Application of John C. Rogers for permit to operate a coal and wood yard between 216 and 382 Orange Street, S. W. At this time the public is informed that this application for a permit for a coal and wood yard will be considered and any one desiring to oppose same will be given an opportunity to present his views in opposition thereto at said meeting.
